Nebraska Teachers Paid Low Salaries

Mort Says That Kansas Is Only State In Union Having Scale Below One Prevailing Here.

"Nebraska has the lowest salaried teachers of any state in the union, except Kansas, which is making a concerted effort to correct its old fashioned system," declared Paul R. Mort, director of the school of education of Columbia university teacher's college, before the Rotary club at the Lincoln hotel Tuesday noon. Prof. Mort is teaching in the summer school of the university for two weeks.

"The fundamental principle of good government is to provide for the welfare and happiness of the people," he declared. "Since fifty cents of every dollar's taxes goes to education, it can be said that the nation's educational system is possibly as important as all its other activities combined. Although each generation must fit the government to its own needs, the educational

HOOVER RENEWS HIS ATTACK ON VETERANS BILL

Measure, Passed by Senate, Termed "Just Bad Legislation."

"LACKS SUPPORT," SAYS PRESIDENT

Caucus of G. O. P. Representatives Called for Tuesday Night.

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—While house republican leaders pondered what to do, President Hoover today called the World war veterans relief bill "Just bad legislation."

The bill, approved 66 to 6 by the senate yesterday, was being returned to the house while the president denounced it to newspaper correspondents standing in his office. A caucus of republican representatives was called for tonight, at which an effort will be to offer a substitute measure.

"I do not believe the country will support this bill," said Mr. Hoover.

The steering committee, an unofficial group of republican leaders in the house, discussed the possibility of an alternative plan with the Swick bill as the basis.

Would Aid 360,000 Vets.

The Swick bill proposes to care for about 360,000 veterans, to whom relief has been denied. It would grant pensions to certain former service men, which would run as high as $72 a month to helpless and blind veterans.

Representative Snell, one of the republican leaders, said the steering committee did not plan any specific recommendations to the conference tonight but hoped a plan that would meet with executive approval could be devised.

He said that adjournment of congress would not be considered until some "satisfactory veterans legislation was enacted."

Warns of Tax Boost.

The presidential attack emphasized his opposition to the bill expressed in a letter to the senate, submitting objections voiced by Secretary Mellon and Director General Hines of the veterans bureau. The treasury secretary warned that the expenditures en-

ASK COUNTY TO ASSIST PAVING

City Commissioners Present North Forty-eighth Project.

Members of County Board Refuse to Make Promises.

Members of the city council presented their proposal to develop North Forty-eighth street and their request for the county to pave 2,000 feet to county commissioners Tuesday morning. No definite answer was given by the county board to the council's request for assurance as to whether county assistance to the project would be given.

Council members pressed the commissioners for a gentlemen's agreement to carry the project through as soon as they could get the city's end in shape, but no such promise was forthcoming. Commissioners pointed out that they had a number of other paving projects near the city, important to the county's development in view. They also pointed out that the funds the county would receive from inheritance tax were uncertain. The council had asked use of that money for the project.

E. M. Bair told commissioners that North Forty-eighth street had been a thorn in the council's side for many years. "We have been letting it stay out until certain improvements are made." He pointed out that people were now demanding action and that the normal development of the northeast part of the city required action in the near future. He expressed the belief that some form of city-county co-operation with use of the inheritance tax fund to give relief to the paving problem is needed as a solution.

Donates Right of Way.

Johann G. Pirnir, who owns a large block of land still outside the city, extending on either side of where Forty-eighth street would go through, from Vine street south to within 600 feet of O street, is willing to give the right of way through his land for the road, Commissioner Bair said. He went on to point out that if Pirnir had to stand the paving expense, it would amount to confiscation of his farm. Pirnir was willing to pay a third of the paving cost, according to Bair.

County Engineer Edgren estimated that the strip through Pirnir's land would cost $20,000 to pave. He questioned the advisability of paving for one man and requiring property owners on either side to pay for their share of the paving past their property. It was after this criticism that Commissioner Bair revealed that Pirnir was

GAS FRANCHISE GIVEN APPROVAL

Unqualifiedly Accepted By Iowa-Nebraska Company.

An "unqualified acceptance" of the terms of the natural gas franchise ordinance passed by the city council Monday afternoon, was filed Tuesday with the city clerk by the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co. It was signed by Frank H. Brooks, president and filed by George A. Lee, counsel. A written acceptance of the terms within three days after passage of the ordinance is required by the law.

According to the acceptance the company "accepts and agrees to be bound by each, every and all the terms, conditions, recitals and covenants of the franchise. It is to be construed as an unqualified written acceptance of the franchise in its entirety."

In view of the additions that were tacked onto the franchise just before its passage Monday, there is some speculation among city officials as to whether threats of a referendum on the measure will be carried out. As T. S. Allen, attorney for the "interested parties" pushing the referendum, was not in the city today, it could not be learned what will be done.

Construction Delayed.

Monday, however, he stated that

DROP LITIGATION IN LOOS ESTATE

Inventory Filed Shows Property To Be Worth $152,927.

Appraisal of the estate of George P. Loos, who died in 1927, showing property valued at $152,927.88 was filed in County court Tuesday for the purpose of determining the inheritance tax. The estate showed real estate of $117,050 and personal property of $35,877.88.

Attorneys for the executor and for the heirs, between whom there has been considerable disagreement in recent months, were on hand in County court Tuesday morning, prepared to hold a hearing on the executor's final account, preparatory to discharge of the latter, points in dispute having been satisfactorily adjusted out of court. Action was deferred by the court pending return of County Judge Reid, who has been on his vacation. He is expected back this week.

Treasury Surplus Over 223 Millions

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—The treasury's surplus for the 1930 fiscal year reached $223,020,522 last Saturday.

As disclosed today, the government income then aggregated $4,106,318,144 while its total expenditures since July 1 were $3,883,297,622. The receipts were $142,000,000 more than collected in the same period last year, but the surplus was $14,000,000 less.

While the surplus exceeded $223,000,000 last Saturday, it may not be so great on June 30 as expenditures in the last week may reduce it. A year ago on the same day the surplus was $237,000,000, while at the end of the year the surplus was $186,000,000.

COURT SUSTAINS DEARDOFF WILL

Children Of Slain Son Lose Contest For Larger Share.

In a ruling handed down early Tuesday afternoon, District Judge Chappell refused Leona and Dola Deardoff any share of the estate of their grandmother, Lydia Deardoff, other than that provided for in her will. The grandchildren had claimed a larger share, demanding uniform distribution in the right of their father, who was murdered in 1916. In ruling for the defendants, Judge Chappell declared that he agreed with the plaintiffs that they should receive a larger share of the estate, but that there was not sufficient evidence of an agreement between the grandparents providing for uniform distribution.

FEDERATION IN INDIA SUGGESTED BY COMMISSION

Simon Favors Grouping States of Princes And Provinces.

A STEP TOWARD SELF-GOVERNMENT

Nationalists Feel None of Their Home Rule Demands Met.

BOMBAY, June 24—(AP)—Leaders of the civil disobedience campaign, by which Indian nationalists are striving to gain independence, declared today that the recommendations of the Simon commission on statutory and constitutional reform would stiffen their movement. They consider that it meets none of the swarajist, or home rule, demands.

As part of their boycott of the Simon commission from its inception, nationalist leaders officially ignored the report, but actually they considered its recommendations in the most minute details. Even the Mahatma Gandhi, in prison at Poona, was presented with a copy of the recommendations by the government, according to newspaper accounts.

As part of the plan to ignore the Simon commission the leaders said that there would be no processions of protest nor mass meetings anywhere, but that there would be a gradual increase in the swarajist, or nationalist resistance movement, in all centers where passive resistance is now being carried on.

Possible Solution Offered.

LONDON, June 24—(AP)—An all-India federation, composed of both the states of the Indian princes and the provinces, was recommended today to Great Britain and India by the Simon commission as affording possible solution of problems presented by Britain's Asiatic empire.

The units which would be contained in the federation would, under the recommendations, be self-governing and autonomous in a constantly progressing degree according to their various capacities. The central or federation government would be responsible to the British crown.

PUBLIC UTILITY FRANCHISES SET

More Than Four Million Valuation Is Fixed By State Board.

Scott Says Figure Is $163,000 More Than Year Ago.

The total valuation of franchises held in Nebraska by public utility companies was fixed at $4,937,620 for purposes of taxation by the state board of equalization when it met Tuesday morning. This is an increase of approximately $163,000 over the 1929 valuation, according to Harry Scott, state tax commissioner.

In general the valuations of the individual companies are about the same as last year, the increase resulting from the fact that about twenty new companies have been included this year which were not doing business last year. A number of others discontinued or were consolidated with other companies.

Number Protests Made.

The levying of franchise taxes brought a number of protests last year. Two suits contesting the collection of the tax are still pending in the courts. All companies have paid their 1929 assessments, with the exception of the Western Union Telegraph Co., however, Scott said. That company contends that it obtained its franchise from the federal government and cannot be taxed by the state. That case is still pending, as is that of the Northern Nebraska Power Co., which paid its assessment under protest.

There are 217 companies included in the list, with individual franchise values varying from $1,000,000 for the Nebraska Power Co. and the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. down to a minimum of $100. The Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. is listed at $200,000 and the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co. at $750,000.

Companies Being Notified.

The utility companies were being notified Tuesday of the valuation fixed upon their franchises. The figures will later be certified to the counties which will levy on those companies operating within them.

The pipe line companies which are bringing natural gas into the state are not included in the list. The board has not yet determined their exact status nor whether they have been in operation long enough to come in under this year's assessment. This matter will be studied further, Tax Commissioner Scott said, before a decision is reached.

4th of July In Lincoln To Be Quiet

Fireworks May Be Sold, But May Not Be Fired.

Although Lincoln children and grownups will be allowed to buy almost every kind of fireworks with which to celebrate Independence day this year, they will not be allowed to shoot them. This is a provision in an ordinance passed almost a year ago by the city council. It was introduced by Mayor Love and followed closely on the heels of a number of fatal explosions of fireworks prior to July 4, 1929.

When the measure was introduced it was opposed by a large number of Lincoln merchants who handle fireworks, as it prohibited both the sale and use of fireworks. They claimed that the enactment would cause them heavy losses because of stocks they were carrying

AIR TOURISTS TO LONG PINE

Hop Off From Norfolk During the Forenoon Tuesday.

REACH VALENTINE.

VALENTINE, Neb., June 24—(AP)—Planes of the second Nebraska air tour arrived here for lunch this noon. All business houses in town were closed for the event.

NORFOLK, Neb., June 24—(AP)—Forty-three airpanes on the second all-Nebraska air tour took off this morning for Long Pine, the next scheduled stop on the swing around the state.

The 43 ships registered here Monday afternoon.

The first group of planes departed from Norfolk this morning about 8:30 o'clock and the others roared away from the field at intervals during the next hour.

Col. Harry Rogers, in charge of the tour, was the first to take off.

Several of the pilots spent the afternoon yesterday taking passengers for short rides in their ships and providing entertainment for a crowd of approximately 6,000 persons with aerial maneuvers.

Lieutenant E. H. Beebe, flight commander from Fort Riley, Kas., joined the tour here late yesterday and spoke at the banquet given in honor of the 65 pilots and mechanics in the party.

The fliers said Norfolk had one of the best natural airports in the country, because of the drainage facilities and alfalfa "cushion."

The fliers were entertained at a dance last night.

As Rogers Sees It

CHICAGO, June 24 —

What's become of the old-fashioned fellow that over in the left hand corner of the paper every day used to say, "Don't sell America short?" All the financial papers are talking about how cheap money is now, with the federal reserve banks around three and three and a half per cent. I don't see why they don't say it's half of one per cent, for there is no way of getting any of it anyway. I'll bet Mellon would have trouble digging up enough collateral for a loan.

Yours, WILL.

Nelson, Round-the-world Flier, Makes Brief Stop at Municipal Airport Tuesday

Taking Big Plane, Which Has Accommodations for 18 Passengers, to Dayton, O. Where Army Will Make Series of Tests.

Erick H. Nelson, member of the historic army round - the - world flight in 1924, landed at the municipal airport at about 11:30 o'clock in a sample of the largest type planes being manufactured at the Boeing factories.

Nelson, who is now sales manager of the Boeing company, is taking the plane to Dayton, O., where it will be loaned to the army for a series of performance tests. The army has purchased a number of Boeing cruisers of various sizes, but none of this type. It is a trimotored giant that weighs 17,500 and carries an additional pay load of 4,000 pounds in either passengers or freight. There are accommodations for eighteen passengers besides the pilots.

J. W. Sharpnack, mail pilot between Cheyenne and Reno, is at the controls. He made the trip from Cheyenne to Lincoln in three hours and twenty-three minutes.

The stop here was utilized to test the improved brake system with which the ship is equipped. Mr. Nelson declared that the field was large enough to land in without the brakes however.

The giant craft is furnished with all the taste and care of a pullman. It has a lavatory, baggage room, coat closets, and running water. The cabin is of sound-proof construction. The seats are overstuffed.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Sharpnack hopped off at about 1 o'clock. Taxiing easily from the hangar to the north side of the field, the ship was whirled about sharply, the motors roared, and the plane lifted gracefully off of the field after a short run.

That New Baby
Buying and Selling
Time to Advertise
There Were Two Gamblers

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Reporters say the Lindbergh baby's first name will be Charles. The middle name, if any, ought to be Morrow, since it can't be Anne.

Another reporter said "the birth of a boy made Lindbergh's biggest dream come true."

The birth of a girl might have made a bigger dream come true.

First, an older sister is a good influence on younger brothers.

Second, girls, not boys, inherit the genius of the father.

But the Lindbergh baby boy will inherit through his mother the talent of his grandfather, Dwight W. Morrow, and that is worth having.

Scientists tell you: "Acquired characteristics are not inherited." They are wrong. If acquired characteristics were not inherited we should all still be cave men.

The Lindbergh baby, inheriting flying on both sides, will fly naturally.

Galton's studies in heredity prove that girl babies inherit their father's powers. And the 4-months-old baby girl belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock jr. proves it also. If you lend her one finger she seizes it and pulls herself straight up in her crib. She gets that from her father's polo right hand. Inheriting the financial ability of the Mellon family, through her mother, she ought to be well equipped.

When prices are high in Wall street, men buy.

When prices are low, men sell, The late Russell Sage said:

"Everybody has at least one chance in his life to buy Western Union at $50 a share. Don't miss your chance when it comes."

In the next few weeks or months, thousands will have opportunities for good investment that may not come again in their lives. But they will wait patiently until prices have been driven sky high, and then they will buy.

These are dull days, and energetic days for advertising. The turtle ran while the rabbit was asleep, and won. The wise advertiser builds his business while others indulge in a "false economy" nap.

Mr. Dave Lewis, advertising manager of Cadillac automobile, has framed on his office wall the reply of the champion "hog caller." Asked how he won the competition, he said: "You must have appeal as well as power in your voice. You must make the hog believe that you have something for him."

In modern business, you must not only make the hog believe that you have something for him, you must really have something for him.

Worried Wall street felt better yesterday, the tiresome "rush to sell" was banished by a "rebound in prices."

Even cotton and wheat, depressed in the morning, picked up in the afternoon.

"Business Week" tells of an old gentleman elected county treasurer then lured into a "no limit" poker game by two professional gamblers.

They bet $1,000. He retired for a moment, bringing back all the money he had, and all the money belonging to the county, and told the gamblers "before you win, you will have to "break me and the county, too." The gamblers quit.

Telling that story to newspaper men, Mr. Legge of the farm board indicated that grain gamblers, selling short against Uncle Sam, might rue it.

Allan Hoover, son of the President, bought a set of union overalls and has gone to work in a New Jersey plant of the American Radiator Co. He wants to "learn the manufacturing business from the bottom."

The best way to do that would be to get a job as office boy with Mr. Clarence Woolley, top head of the American Radiator Co., and listen to observations made by that gentleman in the course of business. He really does know the business from the bottom up.

You can learn more about a man or a business by paying attention to the head than by spending time on the feet.

The prince of Wales, 36 years old yesterday, has ordered himself, as a birthday present, a new airplane, described as "luxurious with a totally enclosed cabin, making it unnecessary for his royal highness to wear a flying kit."

The prince sets a good example in flying.

And the world likes him. For him, you might rewrite the text to read, "Seest thou a prince, diligent in his business, he shall stand before men."

Mussolini's doctrine that the world has talked too much about vague "liberty" and not enough about hard work, and one-man power, is spreading in Germany.

In Saxony fascism is the second most powerful party in the state. In Berlin facists, demanding the right to wear fascist uniforms, "threaten anti-Jewish programs," unless their demand is granted.

New Tariff Bill Causes Big Gain In U.S. Revenues

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—Whatever else the new tariff bill does or fails to do for the country, it already has added a temporary increase in revenues of $24,000,000.

The estimate was made possible when the treasury department in its regular daily statement of government receipts for the close of business June 20 reported June incomes from tariff duties of $59,000,000 which compared with $35,000,000 in the same twenty days last year.

Virtually all the increase in the customs is attributed to the usual last minute rush of importers to get shipments into the United States before the law became effective.

SEVILLE RIOTS ARE RESUMED

Many Injured in Strike Disorders; Martial Law in Effect.

SEVILLE, June 24—(AP)—Several persons were gravely injured and about 100 suffered minor hurts in the rioting on the streets of Seville today as an outgrowth of a general strike.

More than 150 persons were injured in disorders yesterday and the fighting was resumed today as the strikers again began demonstrations. Among those injured in today's disorders was a child, who was reported to be dying.

Martial law was in effect. Cafes and business houses were closed, the inhabitants of the city were mostly indoors and the streets were deserted except where the strikers were congregating.

Turk Claiming To Be 156 Years Old To Visit America

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 24—(AP)—A Turkish passport stating that the owner's birth year is 1774 and stamped with a six months' United States visa will carry toward New York this week Zaro Agha, who claims he is the oldest man in the world.

He has traveled in bygone centuries, having, he declares, fought with Napoleon in Egypt and in Greece during the war of 1825. Now Zaro Agha has selected America for a Twentieth century Odyssey because as a fervid Moslem teetotaler he wants to pay his respects to the land where, as the Koran bids, wine is held wicked, his own country having backslid in this respect.

Zaro says America will be sure to appreciate the man who has been dry for 156 years. He hopes to get into the movies.

"Dozens of Americans have written me to come," he said in Kurdish today. "A rich American lady who owns eight battleships and four yachts has invited me to visit her. She sent me a dollar. I may decide to marry her."

POLICE LINKED WITH GANGDOM

Collusion Between Chicago Officers and Crooks is Rumored.

Search for Forsythe as Suspect in Lingle Slaying is Pushed.

CHICAGO, June 24 — (AP)— State's Attorney John A. Swanson indicated today that an investigation of rumored collusion between public officials and gangsters was being held in abeyance only until the slayer of "Jake" Lingle, Tribune reporter, can be brought to justice.

Replying to a question as to whether he was investigating reports that Lingle was shot down because of his intimacy with police officials on the one hand and gangsters on the other, the state's attorney said:

"The state's attorney has not overlooked conditions that existed prior to the assassination of Lingle. The state's attorney will not overlook them and at the proper time I will direct an action against those responsible.

Action Held in Abeyance.

"This action is only being held in abeyance for the time being so as not to jeopardize a possible solution of the Lingle murder itself."

The search for James (Red) Forsythe, alias Fawcett, who has been identified by some witnesses as closely answering the description of the actual slayer of Lingle, was being pushed vigorously, with new information coming to light concerning Forsythe's past.

The police indicated their belief that Forsythe was one of three men who shot and killed "Big Tim" Murphy in front of his home two years ago. They also said Forsythe was involved in the slaying of John Hand, one of the other two responsible for the Murphy murder. Forsythe, hand and Frank Noonan, the third man in the murderers' car, police said, gave themselves up shortly after the Murphy killing. Police held them a short time and then freed them, saying they "had nothing on them."

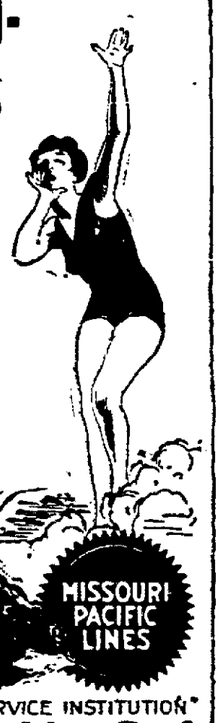

Known as "Muscle Men."

The authorities now say that Forsythe, Hand and Noonan were "muscle men" for the unions in the cleaning and dyeing business in Chicago when Murphy and others attempted to "strong arm" their way in.

The Herald and Examiner says it has been told by one police official close to the Lingle murder investigation that $10,000 was paid for the crime, and that "ample protection" was guaranteed the killer in the presence of at least half a dozen other gangsters.

A·NICE·GIRL COMES·TO·TOWN

By Maysie Greig

SYNOPSIS: The break-up of one romance leads to another for Mary Lou Leslie when she comes to London for a visit. She is cast aside by Brynmor Whittamore as "too nice," and he becomes engaged to Clarice Day, a night club dancer. Mary Lou then attends a round of parties with Tony Titherington, a young aviator. Tony's ambition is to fly around the world, and he seeks financial backing from a wealthy aunt. She seems particularly interested in girls with whom Tony goes, and "show girls" find no favor with her. Tony decides to take Mary Lou for her inspection in the hope that she will approve of her. Aunt Ethelberta, an eccentric spinster, is curt with Mary Lou at first, but finds that Mary Lou is "sensible" and knows a few things about gardening.

Chapter 14.
A DILEMMA FOR TONY.

In the dining room, delightful with its old fireplace and antique furniture, Mary Lou met the other two members of Miss Titherington's household.

Mrs. Fawsett, the elderly widow of an Indian army colonel, lived with her as a companion. She and Miss Titherington once had been schoolmates. The other inmate of "Ham Green Cottage" was a Miss Pitts, a maid of all work. She was a buxom country girl.

The informal atmosphere soon made Mary Lou feel quite at home, much to her surprise. Her nervousness disappeared as Miss Pitts served lunch.

"I suppose you and Tony see a great deal of each other in town," Miss Titherington said, as the first course was being cleared away.

"Oh, yes, Mary Lou and I are great pals," Tony answered for her. "Playtime pals. Dancing together, parties together, you know."

Was it Mary Lou's imagination, or had he deliberately stressed the words "playtime pals?" Miss Titherington appeared to notice it, too.

"I hear this season is fairly jolly in town."

"It is," said Tony.

"Not half as jolly, I'm sure, as the seasons used to be in India before the war," Mrs Fawsett began.

Miss Titherington looked depressed.

"You must bring Mary Lou down for a week-end," she interrupted, addressing Tony.

"Great," he said. "I'll do it."

"Have you taken Mary Lou up yet?"

"Not yet," said Tony. "I'm going to ask her to go up with me some day next week."

Mary Lou's eyes shone excitedly. "Oh, I'd love to go up. Will you really take me, Tony?"

"Sure," Tony told her.

"Well, you can have your flights," said Miss Titherington. "Nothing would induce me to go up in one of those abominable contraptions."

She reached for a little Swiss cow-bell and rang it sharply.

"You can clear away," she said to Miss Pitts. Then to Mary Lou, "Come along with me. I'll take you around and show you the garden."

Miss Titherington talked volubly on gardening matters and seemed pleased with Mary Lou's intelligent comments. Some time later, as they stood in one of the hot houses inspecting some tomatoes, Tony's aunt remarked suddenly.

"Tell me, child, are you playing about with my nephew, or are you seriously fond of him?"

Mary Lou wished Miss Titherington wouldn't insist on asking such embarrassing questions. What was her idea, anyway?

"W—why, I—I'm fond of Tony, surely," she stammered.

Miss Titherington nodded.

"That's what I wanted to know. I've always been fond of him myself, yet I can't understand any girl's wanting to marry him. But then," she chuckled, "I don't suppose we ever can understand why anyone should want to marry our relatives."

His aunt's disposition was so genial at tea time that Tony decided to broach the subject of his contemplated flight as soon as possible. There was an opportunity when Mrs. Fawsett lured Mary Lou upstairs to see a collection of Indian brass ornaments.

"Look here, Aunt Ethelberta," he began. "I'm dead keen to start preparations for that flight around the world. Remember, I told you about it some time ago?"

"I remember." Miss Titherington's mouth shut like a trap.

Tony coughed nervously.

"And—er—I—I'd be most awfully grateful if you would help me out——"

"Help you out? What can I do? I'm no mechanic. What are you driving at?"

"It—it's about the expense," he began again, this time more diffidently.

"Well, why on earth didn't you say so in the first place?" snapped Miss Titherington.

Tony swallowed twice in an effort to get control of himself.

"I was only trying to be tactful, you see."

"Tut, tut. I have no time for tact on this proposition. I've been thinking this matter over for some time, for I knew you'd be after me again soon. Here's your answer: the money for this crazy flight of yours will be deposited in your name at the bank on the day your engagement is definitely announced—and not before."

Tony could only stare at her. He never had expected any such stipulation as this. Had his aunt gone completely out of her mind? What had his engagement to do with the flight, anyway?

"My engagement!" he said weakly. "But you know that I've never thought of getting engaged!"

"Well, if you haven't thought of it, I've done it for you. I say again, that from the day your engagement is announced you can rely on me to back this absurd flight of yours. That's settled. Do you understand?"

His cigaret was burning Tony's fingers, but he didn't notice it.

"My engagement to whom?" he asked.

His aunt gave him a contemptuous look.

"To this new girl, Mary Lou, of course. She's a nice girl, sensible and unspoiled. You're lucky to get her. She'll make you a capital wife." She raised a hand when Tony started to speak.

"No, I won't hear a word of protest. You've played around too long. It's high time you settled down to become a useful citizen. Unless you persuade Mary Lou to become engaged to you, there'll be no flight as far as I'm concerned. My mind is made up."

With that she stalked impressively out of the room. Tony knew only too well of his aunt's stubbornness.

He was moody and silent as he drove Mary Lou homeward. The day had started out well enough, but now he felt that he was in the devil's own mess.

Mary Lou had impressed Aunt Ethelberta. There was no doubt of that. And she had insisted that he become engaged to the girl! Tony had brought Mary Lou down to prove to his aunt that he knew at least one nice girl, but he never had intended her to think that he was serious. Hadn't he told her a dozen times that he had no intention of marrying?

He had tried to argue with her, but to no avail.

"It's all nonsense," he had said finally. "Mary Lou would laugh at the mere suggestion."

"Ask her and see," had been Miss Titherington's retort. "My mind's made up, I tell you."

Tony knew from past experience of his aunt's disposition. Once she had an idea in her head, it was worse than futile to oppose her wishes.

What was he to do?

On the one hand was his fixed determination never to marry any girl. Long ago Tony had promised himself never to become burdened with any domestic responsibilities.

And on the other hand, unless Mary Lou would consent to become engaged to him, he must give up all hopes of his flight. If Aunt Ethelberta didn't finance the flight, his most cherished dream would be shattered. That was unthinkable. The flight meant more to him than anything in the world—more than a hundred Mary Lous.

Tony knew that Mary Lou would understand how eager he was to make the flight after planning on it for so long. If only she would consent to become engaged to him temporarily—say until the flight was completed—everything would be fine.

That would fulfill his aunt's insane stipulation, and surely there could be no harm in it, so long as Mary Lou understood perfectly that he was not serious.

Of course, there was Mary Lou herself to be considered, but he didn't see why she should object. She would have all the fun of an engagement, without the dread of matrimony. Besides, she was young and probably she didn't want to get married for years, anyway. All she seemed to want now was a good time.

Tony glanced over at Mary Lou, who was curled up like a contented kitten beside him in the seat. He had to admit that she looked pretty there in the twilight.

But, hell—that wasn't solving his problem. How was he to approach this business of arranging an engagement that wouldn't be an engagement at all—except for outward appearances?

The more he thought about it, the more Tony became convinced that there was only one way to handle the situation. At best it would be a delicate matter, but it had to be settled sometime.

Why not put it up to Mary Lou herself?

FEDERAL HEALTH EDUCATION URGED

Medical Worker Says Average Life Span Could Be Increased At Least Five Years.

DETROIT, June 24—(AP)—Establishment of a federal department of education and health with a physician as secretary and member of the president's cabinet, was urged today by Dr Charles F Pabst, chief dermatologist of the Greenpoint hospital, Brooklyn, N Y.

Speaking at a round table discussion of the American Medical Editors' association, being held in connection with the American Medical association convention, Dr. Pabst asserted that five years would be added to the average span of life in the United States if such a department were put in charge of governmental health activities.

Only one half of 1 per cent of the total federal budget now is allotted to health education, although three times the amount is expended by the government for medical relief, he said.

GAS FRANCHISE VOTE UNANIMOUS

Council Hears Argument Against Grant Before Taking Action.

Commissioners Present Figures To Refute Objections.

The natural gas franchise to the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co. was passed on the unanimous vote of the mayor and the four city commissioners, Monday afternoon. The action was not taken, however, without giving protestants a chance to state their reasons for opposing the legislation. An advocate of the franchise also was heard.

Three of the protests were in the form of letters which were received by City Clerk Berk shortly before the council went into session. The other was made by C. B. Biggs of University Place, who said he is the manufacturer of a fuel oil burner. He claimed that the advertised rates for natural gas will be of no benefit to the consumer when compared to oils and coal and believed that before the ordinance was enacted people should be given more of an opportunity to "know all about natural gas before buying it."

Cites Omaha Refusal.

In his opinion, Mr. Biggs declared, natural gas should be sold in Lincoln for about 70 cents or less per 1,000 cubic feet. "Omaha does not want it even at 70 cents," he added, expressing the belief that if Omaha shuns the new fuel there is ample reason why Lincoln should do likewise. He also cited as an argument that a very small per cent of the people living in the natural gas fields are using it.

The protests in the letters to the clerk attacked the cost, and brought out that the new fuel has been rejected by Hastings, Omaha, Council Bluffs and other places. One signed G. P. George, declared the writer is a railroad man and that labor generally is opposed to granting the franchise.

Says Natural Gas Explosive.

One of the writers agreed that Mr. Biggs that natural gas is highly explosive, and that the rates here are higher than those quoted elsewhere. When asked by Mayor Love to name some of the places where this was true Biggs spoke of Omaha. The mayor then pointed out that the rates here were lower than those in cities from which the council had been able to get prices.

Harry J. Hall was the advocate of the franchise. "In my opinion," he declared, "natural gas will be a good thing for Lincoln. I believe it will give us better and cheaper fuel, and it will be cleaner. I am convinced that you should pass this ordinance because it will be for the benefits of the whole city and at the same time give employment to hundreds of men who now are without work."

The ordinance, as passed by the council, contained several provisions in addition to those that were written into the original draft. Among these was one which reduces the penalty for late payment of bills from 10 cents per 1,000 feet, to "five per cent of the amount" of the bill, "with a minimum charge of 10 cents on each bill."

Omaha's Maximum Rate.

A provision which fixes the basis of price-making says that the grantee shall not claim the right of using a wholesale gas rate higher than the wholesale rate actually charged to the Metropolitan Utilities district of Omaha, for gas supplied from the same pipe line from which Lincoln will receive its supply. This provision, in the opinion of city officials, does not give the council any particular power more than what it already had in the original draft. What it does do, however, it was stated, is to make more readily available the finding of a base on which to regulate Lincoln prices, since the council, under the ordinance, has full power to reduce the rates at any time. The franchise is for ten years only, is non-exclusive, and the maximum rate is $1 per 1,000 cubic feet for the first 3,000. The price for the second 3,000 is 80 cents each 1,000, and 60 cents each for the next 4,000. Above that the rate is 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. These rates are made a part of the franchise grant.

Requests by petitioners that the ordinance be submitted to a vote were not considered by the council, the members being governed by a written opinion by F. A. Peterson, city attorney, which stated that the council was without authority to initiate an ordinance such as the one that was pending. The authority to do this rests only with the voters themselves, the attorney contended.

"IT WAS KONJOLA THAT DID THE WORK FOR ME"

"Cannot Praise New Medicine Too Highly," Says Palmyra Man Now Restored to Health.

A medicine, after all, must be known by the things it has actually done and not for the claims that are made for it. Konjola, the new and different medicine, for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, is the most talked-of medicine in America. Its fame is based on actual triumphs and achievements. It is compounded of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. It attacks the source of the ailment, removes the causes and produces results that are lasting. Consider, for a moment, the experience of Mr. James W. Garnsey, of Palmyra, near Lincoln. His case is not unlike that of many others with which the Konjola Man at the Fitzgerald drug store, Thirteenth and N streets, Lincoln, is familiar. Call there today and learn more of this great medicine. Here is Mr. Garnsey's experience as he related it to the Konjola Man:

"I suffered for a long time with kidney and bowel trouble. Frequent night risings broke into my sleep. I suffered after eating from accumulated gas in my stomach and my appetite was poor. I had become very nervous and badly run down.

"Before taking Konjola, I had used several kinds of medicine with little beneficial result. Konjola brought relief almost from the beginning. My bowels are now regular. I sleep well at night and have an excellent appetite. I am no longer bothered with gas after meals and night risings are no longer necessary. Two bottles of Konjola have put me back on my feet and I am no longer nervous. It was Konjola that did the work for me."

A real trial of Konjola, in usual cases from six to eight bottles, can do for you all that it did for Mr. Garnsey. Why suffer when this great medicine is available.

The Konjola Man is at the Fitzgerald drug store, Thirteenth and N streets, Lincoln, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

COUNCIL AWARDS AUDIT CONTRACT

The city council Monday awarded to the Ralph L. McKee company the contract for auditing the accounts of several municipal departments. The award is contingent, however, upon the auditor's starting the work not later than Monday of next week and continuing with not less than two workers thereafter until the work is completed. McKee's bid was $815.

The council referred to the city treasurer and the legal department a complaint of the board of education against taxes on property near the Irving junior high school. The board also protested a weed-cutting assessment.

Representatives of a real estate firm appeared before the council in protest against an order to lay a sidewalk along property on the east side of Forty-eighth street south of Holdrege street.

FREMONT, Neb., June 24—Fines of $260 were imposed on Ira Liebee and Preston Pitzer of Norfolk, after an automobile driven by Pitzer collided with one driven by Joe Widhelm. Mrs. Mary Carey, 89, driving with Widhelm, suffered a dislocation of her shoulder. She was rushed to a hospital, where Liebee and Pitzer, also, were treated. Police waited at the hospital for the two men. Charges of reckless driving and driving without a license were placed against the Norfolk men.

INJURY FATAL TO CARL HIGGINS

Neck Broken When He Strikes Head On a Sand Bar.

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 24—(AP)—Carl Higgins, 27, of Schuyler, died here Monday afternoon as the result of a broken neck received when he struck his head on a sand bar in the Platte river near here Sunday night.

Attended University Here.

Higgins attended the University of Nebraska a year and a half, matriculating in 1921. He was a member of Silver Lynx fraternity which has since that time become Phi Sigma Kappa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Higgins of Schuyler. He has a brother, James, who is now attending the university.

HOOVER RENEWS HIS ATTACK ON VETERANS BILL

tailed would require increased taxes next year.

Hines reiterated in a statement today the word he had given the president that the measure, in the form approved by the house, would directly add $181,000,000 to the present $511,000,000 annual expenditures for World war veterans in the first year and that this would increase annually until a possible additional $400,000,000 would be required.

Passes Senate, 66 to 6.

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—Prompt approval of senate amendments by the house and an emphatic veto from President Hoover were forecast today for the World war veterans' compensation bill.

The measure, greatly modified, but still highly objectionable to the administration on the basis of predictions of higher tax rates, was returned to the house today for action on the changes of the senate.

On advance of President Hoover's veto, which congressional leaders regarded as certain in view of his statement of Sunday, the sponsors of the measure were aligning their forces to pass the bill over the chief executive's disapproval.

Administration spokesmen held little hope of sustaining the expected veto in the senate, but were more optimistic with regard to the house. A two-thirds vote of both branches of congress is necessary to override a presidential veto.

Plan Republican Caucus.

A caucus of house republicans will consider the problem tonight. A move was underway at that end of the capitol to work out a compromise more suitable to President Hoover in the event of a veto.

The bill was passed by the senate last night on a roll call which found but six ballots, all republican, cast against the measure and 66 in its favor. Those who opposed it were Bingham and Walcott of Connecticut, Gillett of Massachusetts, Hastings of Delaware, Reed of Pennsylvania and Watson of Indiana, the majority leader.

Moses of New Hampshire and Grundy of Pennsylvania were paired against the bill and Smoot of Utah opposed it but was unable to vote. All three are republicans.

Liberalize Vets' Law.

As passed by the senate, the measure would liberalize existing veterans laws and extend compensation up to $199 a month to disabled ex-service men. In addition, it would provide that disabilities becoming manifest to a 10 per cent degree before January 1, 1930, shall be presumed to have been incurred in the service and to merit compensation on that basis. The present presumptive limit is January 1, 1925.

The bill also adds a long list of diseases to those covered by the presumptive clause. It would compensate veterans at $8 a month while receiving hospital treatment from diseases and injuries not received in line of duty, and give their wives $30 a month if without children, $40 a month if there is one child and $6 additional if there is more than one child.

The operation of the measure would be limited to three years, with congress studying the veterans problem in the meanwhile and subsequently adopting additional legislation.

President Hoover in his statement of Sunday termed the bill inequitable and against the best interests of the veterans themselves. He quoted Secretary Mellon as saying an increased rate of income taxation would probable be necessary if the bill is enacted into law.

This prediction was based upon an estimate that the bill would require an additional outlay for veterans of $102,000,000 during the next fiscal year. Mellon said a deficit was in prospect without this additional burden.

The stand of the administration was roundly criticised by both republicans and democrats in the debate which preceded the roll call. Substitute proposals offered by Reed and Bingham were rejected without record votes.

before the petitions calling for the referendum could be circulated, they would all have to be re-written becaues of the changed wording of the title and text of the ordinance.

Nothing in the way of construction will be started by the gas company until all possibilities of complications have been eliminated, it was stated today by Mr. Lee. There is too much of an investment involved to take any chances, he said. The only thing the company can do is to await developments, in the meantime laying off a large number of the men who have been employed in the work.

Asked if the company would start the work if the council would grant a permit, Mr. Lee said "no." "We do not intend to seek a permit until the path to unhindered progress has been cleared." Work on the main connecting the city with the main line, however, will be continued.

SAY COMPANION ACCUSED JONES

Accomplice in Alleged Murder Now In Nebraska Prison.

DOUGLAS, Wyo., June 24—(AP)—Frank Jones, arrested Monday in Columbus, Neb., is wanted here for the murder nine years ago of Mr. and Mrs. John Roy Schuerz, on their homestead near Lost Springs, thirty miles east of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuerz were killed March 11, 1921, and their bodies and the cabin in which they lived were burned.

A complaint charging murder was filed March 3, 1924, against Jones, Clifford Back and Clarence E. Smith. Smith, Douglas county authorities said, now is serving a life term in the Nebraska prison for murder. It was through Smith, officers here stated, that Jones was implicated in the double slaying. Back has never been apprehended.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the slaying. Jones formerly homesteaded near Mr. and Mrs. Schuerz. An officer is expected to leave for Columbus as soon as extradition papers are prepared.

Smith in Nebraska Pen.

Clarence E. Smith, one of the trio charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Schuerz, is serving a thirty-year term in the Nebraska penitentiary for murder, Warden Fenton said Tuesday morning. Smith was received January 24, 1924 from Cherry county, prison records show.

Governor's Party Sees Sound Film Byrd Expedition

Gov. Arthur J. Weaver and a group of 100 guests were entertained Monday evening in the executive mansion by a showing with full sound recording of the films of the Byrd South Polar expedition. Print No. 2 of the original, this film was first shown to President Hoover and a party of guests at the white house last Friday evening. Mr. Weaver is the first governor before whom the film has been exhibited.

The pictures of the expedition are preceeded by an introduction by Admiral Byrd, filmed with sound recording in New Zealand. A portable outfit obtained from Chicago was used at the governor's party to project the film. The showing lasted an hour and twenty minutes. Among the guests were members of the executive's official family, and a large party of friends from Falls City.

The film was exhibited here through the courtesy of the Publix Theaters corporation.

Omaha Police Made Dizzy by Marital Mixup

Young Man Has Two Wives and Woman Has Two Husbands.

OMAHA, June 24 — (AP) — The marital difficulties of a young man with two wives and a young woman with two husbands caused the heads of Omaha police to spin dizzily this morning. Unable to cope with the situation on the spur of the moment police ordered the couple held at police headquarters, pending a full investigation of their matrimonial affairs. The two in custody are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hitchen, who were married to each other here in 1926.

Since, they both have remarried without first obtaining a divorce, but Hitchen, who is 27, told police that he has been living with both wives under the same roof since last February.

The arrangement might have continued to work to everyone's satisfaction had not Mrs. Hitchen No. 2 run to the police station when, she alleged, Hitchen and his first wife attempted to oust her from the home.

The story of the strange tangle was related to police as follows: Hitchen and his first wife drifted apart two years ago, she going to Chicago and he residing here. In Chicago she fell in love with and married a man named Friedberg. She wrote to Hitchen and told him that she had obtained a divorce.

Husband Weds Again.

Hitchen, meanwhile, married Naomi Bowles, 22, in Cabool, Mo., after telling her of his "divorce." They returned here to live last January. In February, Mrs. Friedberg returned here and a month later moved in with Hitchen and No. 2.

All went well until last night, when the family quarrel terminated at police headquarters. During the mix-up at the station, Friedberg dashed in and added to the melee. He had followed his wife here from Chicago, he said, seeking a reconciliation.

"I meant to get a divorce, but somehow it slipped my mind," Mrs. Hitchen, the first, said at the police station. Hitchen protested that he believed all the time that his first wife had gotten a divorce.

"I like them both, but I think I like Mr. Friedberg better," said the first Mrs. Hitchen and the only Mrs. Friedberg. "I think I will go back to Chicago with him when this is all straightened out."

Daniel expressed the opinion that first distribution to creditors can be expected within 60 days.

FINANCIAL WORRY CAUSES RESIDENT SALEM END LIFE

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 24—(AP)—Despondent over financial matters, Charles F. Sipes, 64, prominent Salem dryman, shot and killed himself late yesterday. He was in a pasture near his home when he discharged the shotgun.

His widow told county authorities that Sipes had been despondent over financial matters for several months and had threatened to take his life.

Mrs. Sipes and a son and a daughter survive.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR PASSES AWAY

(Special to The Star.)

RED CLOUD, Neb. June 24—N. L. D. Smith, 87, pioneer of Webster county and veteran of the Civil war, died suddenly at the home of his son, Morton Smith, near here, Sunday evening. While taking a short walk in the yard that evening he suddenly dropped dead. He had been visiting here for a number of weeks with relatives and had intended to soon return to his home in San Antonio, Tex.

Mr. Smith moved to Webster county with his family from Wisconsin in 1880, residing here until a few years ago, when he moved to Texas. Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. Pearl Ailes and Mrs. Myrtle Rathjen of Red Cloud and Mrs. Cora Reed of Akron, Colo., and four sons, Henry of Cuba, N. Y.; Dean of Topeka, Kas., and Jasper and Morton of Red Cloud. Funeral services are to be held Wednesday and interment here.

Harvest Of Gage County Wheat Begins

Blue Springs Farmer Estimates Yield Of 18 Bushels.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., June 24—A majority of Gage county farmers will pay all the way from $2.50 to $3.50 a day with room and board for harvest hands this season. This action has been taken because of the slump in grain prices, it is stated. Although a large number of farm laborers have gone to the Kansas wheat fields to assist in the harvest, it is believed that there will be plenty of farm hands to take care of the harvest in Gage county.

S. S. Snyder, living just north of Blue Springs, began cutting wheat yesterday and estimates the yield at about 18 bushels. Louie Mahlock, living northwest of here, started Tuesday. Farmers living along the state line are cutting oats.

Increase In County Alfalfa Acreage Is Urged by Purbaugh

An increase in the amount of Lancaster county land sowed to alfalfa this fall is urged by County Agent Purbaugh in his county farm bureau notes mailed to farmers Tuesday.

About six out of every one hundred acres of cultivated land are now in alfalfa and clover other than sweet clover in the county, he says. This could profitably be increased to 15 or 20 acres of legume to every one hundred acres, he believes.

Alfalfa is the best paying crop raised here, he points out and generally does best on the poorest land. Its chief value, according to the county agent, however, lies in its contribution to run-down soil by replacing valuable organic matter, particularly with nitrogen content. It is a cheap means of replacing worn-down soil, he advises county farmers.

Child Dies After Drinking Kerosene

YORK, Neb., June 24—(AP)—A drink of kerosene proved fatal yesterday to 2-year-old Ruth Behnken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Behnken of Gresham. The liquid affected the child's bronchial tubes.

FARMERS LEARN OF EXPERIMENTS

Agricultural College Is Host To Crops and Soils Men.

Crops and soils men from the corn belt states spent all day Tuesday looking over the experimental work being done at the University of Nebraska experiment station. Early in the morning they visited the green houses where tests are run under the perfect control of soil and climatic conditions. The remainder of the day was spent at the university farm east of Havelock, where they learned the following things:

Eighteen tons of manure every four years has given the greatest increase in yield of any fertilizer experiment conducted by the university on this farm. Applications of three tons per acre each year have been better than the same amount of manure dumped on the land every two years, three years, and four years. Commercial fertilizers have not increased the yield of crops on this university farm, although they have given good results on other farms in the same neighborhood.

It is not necessary to have an absolutely uniform stand of corn in order to get moisture yields, tests have shown. If a hill has only one stalk, the ear will probably be bigger and the surrounding hills of corn will also be better to make up the total yield of the field.

Deep Plowing Increases Yield.

Deep plowing has also increased the yield of corn, furrow openers have shown no increase in yield, and listing has been about equal to surface planting in the tests at Lincoln. Plowing for wheat in July and disking the ground in August to kill weeds and pack the soil, has been the best way to prepare land for winter wheat. Disking the stubble in July and plowing it in August has been almost as good a method. Plowing five to seven inches deep has given as good a yield as deeper plowing.

Alfalfa on land which has been in alfalfa before is entirely dependent on annual rain fall. The subsoil moisture on the high land of southern Nebraska is entirely exhausted by a five-year old crop of alfalfa. It is estimated that it will take 200 years to restore this moisture with the annual rainfall in this section of the state. Half a crop is all that can be expected when a man seeds alfalfa the second time on a piece of land.

Sudan grass yields 68 per cent as much forage as black amber cane, a twelve year experiment has shown. Sudan grass is a much better and safer pasture than cane, however.

Nothing has been gained by planting corn extremely early, according to another experiment. The prime object of cultivation is to prevent weed growth in corn fields, although four cultivations are better than merely scraping the ground to keep down the weeds. Scraping the top of the soil gave a 93 per cent yield compared to 100 per cent for four cultivations.

The men from the other states compared their experiments at home in each case with those shown at the Nebraska stations. They were not only interested in results obtained but in methods and machinery used by the Nebraska station to conduct the experiments.

P. H. Stewart, in charge of the extension service work of the agronomy department, explained the methods used in working with farmers of Nebraska on corn production, smut control, grain varieties, and soil fertility.

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain drugs and the habit-forming menace.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Fifty-first street, filed Tuesday as a candidate for state superintendent. Jackson is listed in the city directory as a salesman.

FEDERATION IN INDIA SUGGESTED BY COMMISSION

commend a considerable advance toward self-government. and while we believe that a sense of responsibility can only be taught by making men responsible for the effects of their own actions, we desire to secure that experience is not bought too early," the report says.

"There must be in India a power which can step in and save the situation before it is too late. There must be provided as far as may be, safeguards to insure the maintenance of vital services."

Will Start Discussions.

The recommendations, which are embodied in the report of a parliamentary commission of seven, headed by Sir John Simon, will be the basis of conversations in the projected round table conference to be held in October in London on Indian affairs.

The recommendations received a generally agreeable welcome in preliminary comments of the British press this morning. Few expected, however, anything but opposition from the nationalist groupings in India which have furthered the civil disobedience campaign of the past few weeks. The measure of self-government allowed was considered as falling far short of their demands for complete independence, or the immediate dominion status on which some believed they would be willing to compromise.

"Whatever may be its shortcomings, and however distasteful some of its manifestations," the report says of Indian nationalism, "it appears to be the one force in India society today that may perhaps overcome the deep and dangerous cleavages that threaten its peace."

The commissioners make clear that their recommendations include end of the dyarchy, the name given to the system of British rule which set certain sharply defined limits on native participation of provincial affairs.

Other Changes Suggested.

Other recommendations of the commissioners are:

Separation of Burma and India, with Burma responsible to London rather than to Delhi.

That the London government continue to support the military in India regarding defense of the northwest frontier as an empire rather than Indian problem

Increase of those holding the franchise from about 2½ per cent to about 10 per cent of the population.

SOUTHERN CROSS SPEEDING WEST

rectly over the steamshipship lane between southern Ireland and Cape Race and despite reported foggy conditions appeared to be holding her course.

The steering direction "261" indicated that the plane was heading west and slightly south, which would take her along the great circle course toward Cape Race.

"Going Strong."

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Irish Free State, June 24—(AP)— The Southern Cross was 800 miles out from the Irish coast and "going strong," a wireless from her said at 1.30 p. m., (7:30 a. m., E. S. T.)

The position, 800 miles out, would place the Southern Cross close to the halfway overwater mark between Ireland and Cape Race, Newfoundland.

The span of the Atlantic between Fastnet, most southern point of Ireland, to Cape Race is 1,700 miles.

The point of latest report indicated that the Southern Cross had maintained an average for the entire distance of slightly more than eighty-eight miles an hour.

Report "Everything O. K."

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Irish Free State, June 24—(AP)— The Southern Cross at 12:55 p. m., British summer time, 6.55 a. m., E. S. T.) reported by wireless to the Baldonnel authorities: "Everything O K."

Baldonnel officials confirmed the message as coming from a point about 550 miles off the Irish coast.

The message continued:

"We are flying 2,000 feet up. Already battling along at 105 miles an hour. Made splendid takeoff, flying fine."

The Southern Cross has been in direct communication with the airport authorities ever since her take off

The ship was heavily loaded at the takeoff, with enough gas for a three hours' margin of safety after the entire calculated distance of flight.

Weather "Icy Cold."

An earlier message, at 10 15 a. m. British summer time, read:

"Shooting suns and things: Icy cold outside. Bet Van and Smith are feeling it We are all wrapped up like polar explorers, but it is stil pretty nippy."

Another message timed 11 05 a. m read:

"Eleven a. m., 53:15 north, 16.57 west. Average ground speed since leaving coast 82 statute miles per hour. This is satisfactory and leaves us good margin All aboard O. K. Are cheerful. Engine revolutions 1,675, air speed now 100 miles per hour"

Four Men Aboard.

PORT MARNOCK, Irish Free State, June 24—(AP)—The airplane Southern Cross, victor over the Pacific, sought today to conquer the Atlantic in the first westward flight from Europe to New York.

Aboard it were four men, headed by Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, pilot, who successfully steered it on the first airplane flight from America to Hawaii and Australia. The others were J. W. Stannge, radio operator; M. E. Van Dyk, assistant pilot, and Capt. J. T. Saul, navigator.

The takeoff was at 4:27 a. m., (10 27 p. m., E S. T. Monday). Although loaded to capacity with gasoline, the big ship raced 1,000 yards down the runway and then rose gracefully. It circled Port Marnock, which is seven miles northeast of Dublin, once, and then turned westward toward Galway and the open ocean

Ten thousand spectators witnessed the departure, cheering frantically as the plane left the ground. Among those present were Governor General MacNeil, the American minister, Frederick A. Sterling and Mrs. Sterling, and others.

A 3,364 Mile Flight.

Ahead of the ship at its departure lay a course of 3,364 miles to New York, due westward toward Galway and then eastward and somewhat to the south the coast of Newfoundland, where it was to turn southwest and follow the seaboard to New York.

The airmen expected a trip of about thirty-four hours, which would bring them to New York at about 8.27 a. m., (E. S. T.) Wednesday. The ship tanks were loaded with 1,298 gallons of gasoline—two gallons less than capacity in order to escape the unlucky numeral 13—which would be sufficient for most contingenies.

The westward flight never before has been made, although tried frequently from various parts of Europe. In the spring of 1928 the airplane Bremen did complete a westward north Atlantic crossing from Baldonnel airfield, near here, to Greeneley island, a lonely spot on the coast of Labrador, but it fell short of its goal, New York. Aboard the Bremen was Col. James Fitzmaurice, an Irishman, and two Germans, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeld.

Romance Flies With Pilot.

Romance flew with Captain Kingsford-Smith. If his flight is successful he will give up venturesome long distance attempts and marry Miss Mary Powell, a pretty 24-year-old Irish girl of Melbourne, Australia, whom he met a year ago on a boat going down to Antipodes from Vancouver. They fell in love with each other almost at first sight and became engaged. Save to a few friends their engagement was not revealed until a few days ago.

Captain Kingsford-Smith said then that if successful on this trip he would never fly the Southern Cross again, but would settle down to the less hazardous work of managing a commercial aviation company in Australia which he and Charles Ulm, a companion in the trans-Pacific flight of two years ago, already are associated.

The weather ahead of the fliers today was most propitious. There was a clear sky, and at the start a five mile southeast breeze behind them. Predictions were for continued fine weather, although some head winds, as usual on an east to west flight, could be expected.

Opposition by wholesalers and individuals also caused other amendments to be adopted. One of these provides that stocks may be carried by the distributors for sale to other towns. Another permits the use inside the city limits of sparklers, spin wheels and colored flares.

Violations of the ordinance are subject to a fine of $100 for each and every offense.

system is about a generation behind," he said.

Prof. Mort advocates paying all elementary and high school teachers a "literacy wage," which he explains is very low but considerably higher than the average teacher's salary today. Every other state in the nation has corrected or is in the process of correcting its antiquated system and he urged that Nebraska, which always has led in public activities, join in line and not be left "holding the sack."

THE PRICE OF PROGRESS.

These are the specific financial proposals which the voters of Lincoln will be asked to pass upon at the election in August:

1.—An increase of $180,000 in the general maintenance fund of the city, out of which must come all of the running expenses of government.

2.—A specific levy, raising $25,000 a year for ten years, to be devoted to a new building or buildings replacing old and antiquated structures now housing the fire, police and health departments.

3.—A specific levy, raising $50,000 a year for ten years, for the purpose of making necessary extensions of storm and sanitary sewers.

4.—The proposed levy for park development remains the same as last year, $120,000. Under the proposals, however, the mill levy for parks is done away with and the item is carried in the budget as "extra expense."

That is the most simple form to which the program prepared by Mayor Don L. Love and his associates may be reduced. It is conservative and sane. It does not call for a crushing increase in taxation but it is a long term plan, calculated to provide for the needs of Lincoln for some years to come. It is, in short, applying sound, far sighted business judgment to the problems of city government, for business which is intelligently directed and managed looks not only to the present but to the future.

The present city budget, approved ten years ago, places a limit of $500,000 upon the general expenditures of the city. In that same period of time the population of Lincoln has increased 20,971, a gain of 21 per cent, or double the growth registered during any decade of the present century. The problems of city finance are those of the individual. When the family increases, its expenses are greater. Likewise when the city extends its boundaries, and attracts thousands of people to it, it is inevitable the expenses of city government should increase.

Since 1920 the suburbs of Bethany, College View, Normal, University Place and Havelock have become a part of Lincoln, upon their own initiative as expressed in referendums on the issue of annexation. They were naturally a part of the city. Their growth, coupled with the expansion of the corporate limits of Lincoln, brought them together physically. The budgets of the four suburbs—University Place, Bethany, College View and Havelock—aggregated $126,000. When that burden was transferred to the general maintenance fund of Lincoln automatically it added $126,000 a year to the operating expenses.

But that is not the full story of the financial problems confronting the taxpayers of the capital city. Its police department has been undermanned and is more inadequate now that additional property in the annexed suburbs is placed under its care. There has not been a new piece of fire equipment purchased since 1925. The city library is today occupying the same quarters which housed it thirty years ago. When the Fire department unit housed at Tenth and Q streets was compelled to move because the quarters it occupied were condemned, an old barn was secured which costs the city $1,800 in rentals. The Police and Health departments still occupy the condemned building in inadequate and unsanitary quarters. Although the physical area of Lincoln has nearly doubled in ten years there have been no extensions of either sanitary or storm sewers in the last eight years.

It has been private initiative, not civic spirit and confidence and faith which has made it possible for Lincoln to record the most glowing story of progress of any community of its size in the Central West in the last ten years. There has been no timidity or lack of foresight on the part of its citizens in the development of an impressive business and industrial district and the building of a beautiful residential community. The same courage applied to the financial problems of the community, which are nobody's business, and yet everybody's business, would have averted the present situation which confronts the community.

Every property owner and taxpayer, who will vote next August, will be most concerned with what it will cost him if the proposals are approved. He has a right to know that since he pays the bills.

On the average home valuation of $2,500 the increases asked for will cost him $4 a year more in taxes than he paid in 1929. A home valued for tax purposes at $5,000 will pay $8 a year more. A home valued at $10,000 will pay $16 a year more.

Surely that is not an excessive price to pay for progress. It means that Lincoln, a city of great natural beauty, of matchless educational opportunities, of a fine type of citizenship, the home of a great state university, a capitol which stands out as one of the greatest developments in modern architecture in the world, prosperous and distinctive retail establishments and jobbing houses, will avail itself of the opportunity beckoning to it.

INADEQUATE PRISON FACILITIES.

After a prisoner who had been sentenced to the penitentiary for forgery had broken from the county jail at Kearney, the information reaches the public that no less than fifty convicted and sentenced men are being held in county jails throughout Nebraska, awaiting their turns to be received at the Lancaster prison. At the latter, originally constructed for the accommodation of 450 convicts, nearly 740 are being cared for at this time, this being made possible through the construction of temporary, makeshift quarters.

Of course this condition has been known to the legislators, as well as the other people of the state, for many years, but little or nothing has been done to relieve it, and, according to an official, it is not uncommon for a man sentenced to one year to serve the entire time in the jail of the county in which he was convicted. The penitentiary is crowded to the limit, and unless the prospective inmate is a desperate character, or in danger of mob violence, it is liable to be many months before room is found for him ;and in the meantime the state pays board for him in a jail.

This sort of thing, of course, continues because those having control of legislation and appropriations refuse to take the necessary steps to terminate it. Without doubt Ohio, Colorado and other states which have had horrible illustrations of the results of overcrowding prisons will immediately make appropriations for the purpose of providing adequate modern prison facilities, just as the federal government has done. It should not be necessary for Nebraska to go through with another outbreak with its attendant horrors, in order that legislators should see the necessity of remedying the condition now known to exist.

The prison situation has been for several years the most acute one in the United States. Attention has been called to it times without number, yet one legislature after another deferred action, passing the matter along to the next one. Within the last two years, however, exactly those things which had been predicted have been taking place, and it would seem that decisive action could no longer be postponed. Prison facilities must be enlarged and they must be improved, and it should not be necessary to wait for a murderous outbreak in every state before this is done.

NAMING A BABY.

When a fine, healthy young man of 7½ pounds happens to have a world famous dad, and an equally distinguished grandfather, it's no easy task to select a name for him.

Whether the little stranger who came to the Morrow mansion Sunday afternoon should be christened Charles Augustus, Charles Dwight, or Dwight W., has agitated the nation far more than the serene and happy parents. For Charles, or Dwight, or whatever it may be, and the Associated Press reveals that Charles has been decided upon, with a decision yet to be made on the middle name, is the most precious baby in all of the world.

It is a measure of the affection which the American people have for Colonel Lindbergh that they should wish his name to be perpetuated through the son born to him and his wife. No matter what the future may bring forth in the conquest of the air, the memory of a touseled haired young man, clambering alone into the cockpit of a glistening white plane, and then bravely setting forth in the warming glow of breaking day to pierce the mists and fogs of the Atlantic, will never be completely effaced. Seventy-five years from now, when the flying colonel will have flown his last, the name Charley Lindbergh, if that little boy lives to ripe old age, will unlock the memories of the epochal flight of aviation.

PURPOSE IN PLAY.

The report of Earl Johnson, city recreation director, last week, on the first full week's activities of the city's playgrounds carried much of real significance to the city. Increase in size of a city always complicates the problem of providing suitable recreational opportunities for children. Lincoln is no exception.

Every effort should be made to encourage the sort of a program that grows out of the general insight into the recreational problem as expressed by Mr. Johnson in his report to the recreation board last week.

A special night is to be held each week at each of the recreational centers. The "wheel night" of one week, the "stilt night" of the coming week are but samples. The prime purpose of these nights, Mr. Johnson pointed out, was not for the nights themselves, but to give the boys something to do during their spare time. Construction of the various specialties each week provides an outlet along sane lines for healthy enthusiasm. It provides opportunity for instruction in practical handcraft at the same time.

The boy who has something to make is going to cause little serious trouble. The city can well afford to encourage such a program. Its expense is far less than that of the juvenile court at the outset. And it has that satisfactory climax of development of wholesome youth which no merely reformatory and corrective agency can hope to achieve, however great its aid to the social community may be.

Every effort should be made to get small playgrounds scattered through the city so that every child may be within a half mile of a reasonably satisfactory recreational center.

HUNGER FOR LIBERTY NOT ENOUGH.

The most recent recommendation of the Simon commission with reference to India's affairs strikes deeply at the heart of the problem of self-government.

The most serious obstacle which Gandhi has encountered in his rebellion against British rule in India has been the realization by the vast majority of educated natives that without the restraining hand of the British government, various sections of India would be at each other's throat in a very short time. The Simon commission proposes an all-India federation. It would group the states of the Indian princes and the provinces in a central body, with the individual units self governing and automomous in a constantly progressing degree according to the various capacities.

In the case of India, the Philippines, or any other country, the mere hunger for liberty is not sufficient. In untrained hands freedom can become a frightful oppressor of the masses. The real problem in India is educational and economic. Whatever may have been British shortcomings heretofore, and they were probably many, the Simon commission, through its investigation and recommendations, has accomplished more toward improving the status of India than any individual or group. It has pointed out what must be done to fit India for self government. If its recommendations are followed, the unhappy land may confidently look forward to brighter days.

Now that the dial telephones have been removed from the senate chamber, senators won't have to reserve all their peevishness for investigating committees.

Paris has barred goats from the streets of the city. This country doesn't have to—they flock to the stock market.

Childish curiosity caused a Massachusetts child to drive a nail through a dynamite cap to see what would happen. Four other children are suffering with him. There are some people, who would always like to put a nail through the country's political or economic system.

Homely Philosophy

HAVE A HOME!

Why are you willing to be a floater all your life? Don't you want some standing in your community? Don't you want to impress people with the fact that you have come to stay and want to take up your duties as one with the community in which you live?

You want to be a good householder and a loyal citizen.

Then own your own home, if possible, and see what a difference it will make with you and your family if you have one. It need not be a large home. But establish yourself on a plot of earth in the community where you think you can make a living and see if it won't help you to become a respected and responsible citizen.

A tiny house, clean and neat grounds mowed and free from weeds a few vines, flowers, fruit trees or perhaps a small garden makes a householder.

As such you will have a standing in your section.

To earn a living in a town and never assume any responsibility of ownership does not gain for you the respect you would like to have. For shame to take advantage of all community gives without giving anything yourself to the common good.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THE CROW AND THE KINGBIRD.

The crow looks large enough to me
To tackle any bird that flies,
But merely living proof is he
That courage isn't based on size.

And monarch that he seems to be,
Black, bulky, ominous and grim,
I always laugh whene'er I see
A tiny kingbird chasing him.

That there is comedy in air
All natural observers know,
The birds must laugh themselves,
I swear,
To see a kingbird bluff a crow.

In terror swoops that hulking chap
To dodge the little foe he fears,
In agony his great wings flap,
And awkwardly he dips and veers.

With all his size, the inky crow
Before the tiny kingbird flees,
Proving what mortals ought to know,
Size gives no moral guarantees.

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune.)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Albuquerque, N. M.

I had to give up my fiance when I was afflicted with tuberculosis in an acute form. After long treatment I was pronounced a complete cure. Meanwhile my fiance married a girl who knew that he was still in love with me. Their marriage was not happy and she returned home. Now he is approaching me again, and as I never ceased caring for him I feel impelled to listen to him. What ought I to do? I've never believed in divorce. I may add that my home and family connections are the worst possible.

ANSWER.

Candidly, I don't think your former lover is worth his salt. You fought a brave fight which taxed your patience and courage to the limit, only to find that he had taken advantage of your emergency to bestow his affections elsewhere.

Had he been as true a man as you are a woman he would have waited for the outcome of your struggle. Instead of doing this he married a woman he did not love and so betrayed her happiness. I advise you to consult your pastor or priest and be guided by his judgment of the case. Personally I believe you should bid this fickle swain a long goodbye. And while you are about it, cut the domestic painter. Go forward on your own and do not allow your family to drag you down.

QUESTION.

Brooklyn.

I am a college student and shall take my degree in the course of the next six months. Thereafter my course of post graduate study will occupy at least four years more before I am able to stand on my own feet. The fly in the ointment is this: I have suddenly come to the realization that a girl I have known for several years means everything in the world to me. In spite of all resolutions to do so I cannot keep her out of my mind, and if I should ask her to wait for me it would result in opposition among the many members of my family.

I do not know which way to turn. My ordinary supply of discrimination fails me entirely. I feel sure you are able to indicate a path of future action.

ANSWER.

When in doubt follow the heart's best promptings, is a pretty safe rule in cases such as yours. So long as the girl you love "means everything in the world" to you, and she returns your affection and esteem, stick to her. Why should you banish her from your mind? She is your guiding star, and provided the light she casts on your path is pure and inspiring, pay little heed to your family's remonstrances. They do not have to live with her and you do. They cannot determine what your life shall be and she may.

The love of a good woman is God's choicest gift after His own love, and this is bestowed on you and your adored one. Tell her all you feel. Get her outlook on the future. Probably she will answer you as Rachel answered Jacob in one of the Bible's classic love stories. Four years ought to pass like an enraptured dream once you have settled the main question. Her companionship will illuminate every moment of the waiting period, and this should be filled with preparation intensified by the anticipated crowning of your lives in marriage.

I have known couples who tested out their love as you must do. It survived every change, overcame every obstacle and laughed at impossibilities. Those who possessed it went to the altar and completed their union knowing what they were about. Emulate their example of constancy.

QUESTION.

Bristol, Conn.

I am a man thirty years old, who never had an opportunity of obtaining a college education. I would appreciate your suggesting some books which tell of the best English literature for me to study so that I can in some degree make up for my lack of higher education.

ANSWER.

To select a list of books for another man, even great books, is not always a successful venture. For some Wordsworth's poems are dull and for others Plato's "Dialogues" are tiring. The best thing you can do is to get a bird's-eye view of the whole field from such volumes as Frederick Harrison's "The Choice of Books" and Saintsbury's "Short Sketch of English Literature." They give you a fairly clear idea of what the subject requires. In addition and by way of variation read Palgrave's "Golden Treasury" and Craik's "English Prose." Follow your personal inclination in choosing significant books. If you think you would prefer Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy" to Pope's "Essay on Man," try out your preference. If "Hamlet" and "King Lear" are entertaining and "Measure for Measure" is unattractive, let it be so. Every man ought to be himself, even in his choice of literature. Why should he standardize reading? How any man can fail to love Dickens I do not know, but I do know men of brains and education who have tried to read "David Copperfield" and could not finish it.

So browse around under the leadership of the guides I have suggested. Keep to the well trodden paths in this large and diversified realm. Strive to like what they commend and if you cannot experience its fascinations, be honest enough to say so. You are ot be congratulated on your love of books. They have a big hold on life's best things.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

GO BACK TO MAINTENANCE DIET IF YOU TAKE COLD WHEN REDUCING.

QUESTION.

"Dear Doctor. I have been on your diet and have lost 85 pounds in seven months. For the last two months I have been eating everything including starches, etc., and have lost on an average of one pound a week. I have had a cold for a month and do not seem to be able to get rid of it. Have been taking medicines advised by the doctor, but they do not help. Do you think it is on account of losing so much weight? I did weigh 240, and am now 155. I would feel fine if it were not for the cold. MISS S."

ANSWER.

While reducing, one may take a cold just as at any other time, Miss S. If this happens, it is advisable to go right back on to the maintenance diet and stop reducing until the cold is better. I would not advise taking much bread or cereals, though, or the flesh foods, for these are acid in reaction and during a cold or any other illness, it is doubly important to have a strongly alkaline diet. Take potatoes instead of bread, and add more vegetables, cream and butter ,milk and fruit to the diet.

After the cold is over you can go back to the reducing diet.

You must look and feel 100 per cent better than you did. Eighty-five pounds excess is an awful load. You apparently have your appetite trained so that you are satisfied with a small amount of food. It is necessary, even in the reducing diet, to have some starches, you must remember; otherwise the fat isn't burned properly, and a type of acidosis comes on. (This acidosis frequently affects those who go on freak diets and eliminate all starches.) At least 100 C. a day of some frankly carbohydrate food — one slice of bread, or a medium sized potato, or a cup of cereal, should be taken. This, with the starches that are in the vegetables and fruits, will be sufficient.

(The instructions which Miss. S. followed are contained in our Reducing pamphlet. See column rules for obtaining this.)

Miss S.— Cod liver oil is almost always given in tuberculosis. It contains vitamins A and D. Viosterol contains only vitamin D, but in much greater concentration than in cod liver oil.

Vitamin D has to do with the integrity of the bones and teeth and the chemistry of the tissue fluids, for it has to do with the proper utilization of calcium and phosphorus in the body. You should be guided by what your physician says about taking cod liver oil or viosterol. (If you need extra vitamin A, he will probably advise you to take the cod liver oil, or to add more foods containing vitamin A—green vegetables, cream, egg yolks.)

The sunlight or ultra-violet ray treatments are used very successfully in tuberculosis of the bones, but the general treatment is similar to that used in tuberculosis of the lungs.

We have an article which goes into the diet and gives a list of books written for the layman by specialists in the disease, which will help you. See column rules.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column in their turn. Requests for articles or pamphlets on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed stamped envelope, plus the following small charge to help cover cost of printing and handling: for each article wanted two cents in coin; for each pamphlet ,ten cents in coin. The pamphlets are Reducing and Gaining, Hygiene of Women, Kidney and Bladder Disorders. Address Dr. Peters in care of this paper. Write legibly, and not over 200 words.

Scanning New Books

NEW YORK—The tercentenary of the Massachusetts Bay Colony has produced a long awaited picture of the Puritan fathers in their true colors.

It is Samuel Eliot Morison's "Builders of the Bay Colony" and whether or not you care about New England history, it is thoroughly entertaining.

In this collection of brief biographies, Morison has tried to show the sincerity and beauty in the lives of the Puritans, a side generally neglected for their gloomier aspects.

"Although religion was the dynamic force which gave the Bay colony character and consistency," Morison finds, "it was not an all-absorbing interest."

The stern immigrants to a new world had their lighter moments, as when in 1627 they danced about a May pole with Indian women as their playmates.

Nor were they a drab people.

"The Massachusetts puritans disliked extravagance," the historian found, "but they appreciated comeliness, wether in a ship, a house, or a woman; and they loved bright-colored paint on ships and houses—but not on women."

On great occasions they might even be gaudy. Governor Bradford wore a Turkey-red suit and besides the familiar broad-brimmed, high-crowned, black felt hats of the cartoonists, his fellow-colonists also wore a sort of beret.

Morison has happily chosen his characters for their typical lives, rather than the eminence they attained.

Reconstructionist's Story.

The reconstruction period in American history has been pretty thoroughly deplored by recent writers. Now comes Henry Clary Warmoth, reconstruction governor of Louisiana, to excuse and defend the men "who upheld the flag" in the south immediately after the civil war.

At the age of 87, he has written the administration's side of Louisiana's stormy story from 1868 to 1873, while he was governor, and after.

He tells of his own career as a lawyer, Union soldier and politician and describes the post-war conditions which he says kept the southern negroes in virtual slavery.

To his critics, he replies, "I was never a 'Louisiana carpet-bagger,' though I might, in common parlance, be termed a 'scallawag'."

Noted Briefly.

The incisive irony of Dorothy Parker that looks upon life as only passable distinguishes her fist collection of short stories, "Laments for the Living." They are apt to make petty people rather uncomfortable.

The stormy love life of Marguerite of Navarre is made into a racy narrative by Paul Rival, who calls her "The Madcap Queen."

And a new bigraphy has just been published for the cut-rate counters—a volume on "Read Admiral Byrd and the Polar Expeditions" by a pseudonymous "Coram Foster."

Peter Tires To Call Jerry Muskrat

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Be sure you know just what to do,
Lest you in vain your action rue.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit sat on the bank of the Smiling Pool. The Black Shadows lay heavy across half of it. It was very still and the water was as smooth as a sheet of glass. Peter was watching for Jerry Muskrat. He had been watching for some time. Jerry hadn't appeared. He had seen and heard nothing of Jerry. He wondered if Jerry could be somewhere over in those Black Shadows. You see, Peter wanted somebody to talk to. Redwing the Blackbird had gone to sleep long ago. For some unknown reason. Grandfather Frog was nowhere about. There was no one.

There was a sharp, sudden boom just over Peter's head that made him jump. Yes, sir, it actually made him jump. You see, it was so wholly unexpected that for an instant Peter didn't realize who or what had made that noise. Then he realized that it was Boomer the Nighthawk. Boomer had swooped down in that headlong way of his to check himself just above Peter's head, making that loud noise. And then his swift wings had taken him up in the air again. Peter hadn't even had time to protest.

The faintest of faint odors tickled the wabby little nose of Peter. It was an odor that he recognized. It was an odor that he never got anywhere excepting around the Smiling Pool, or in certain places along the Laughing Brook and the Big River. Peter sniffed two or three times and finally caught it again.

"Jerry is somewhere around," said Peter with a grin, "for that is his own special perfume that I smell. Several others of my acquaintance carry perfume, but none like that that Jerry Muskrat likes so much."

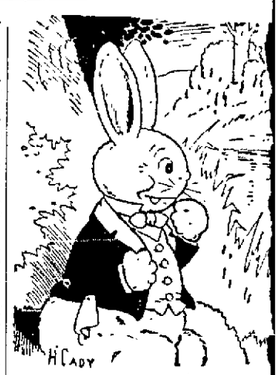

Of course, Peter mean the musk which has given Jerry his name of muskrat. Unlike Jimmy Skunk's Jerry Muskrat's perfume is not unpleasant. Peter rather enjoyed it as he sniffed and sniffed, for it was not too strong. Then, too, he felt certain that Jerry must be near, or there would be none of that odor.

"I know what I'll do," thought Peter. "I told Jerry Muskrat that I would no tthump on the roof of his house. I won't thump to be mean, But I'll just call him. If I thump once or twice, he'll know that I'm here and then perhaps he'll come out. It's a good thing that I know just wher ehis house is in the bank. If I didnt I wouldn't know where to come. I won't thump hard. I'll thump lightly and Jerry will understand."

So Peter hopped along until he judged he was over Jerry Muskrat's house. To make sure, he peered over the edge of the bank. He could see an entrance under water—a hole. Peter hopped back a little way, so as to get right over Jerry's bedroom. At least, that was what he was trying to do. He knew that from the opening down under water a quite long hall led at a slant up to a snug bedroom just a little way below the grassroots.

Peter thumped lightly; then he hopped over to the edge of the bank and locked down. He expected to see Jerry Muskrat come out of that hole down under water. Jerry didn't come out. So, after waiting a few minutes, Peter went back and he thumped again, this time a little harder than before. Once more he hurried to the edge of the bank and looked down. He waited and waited, but he waited in vain. No Jerry Muskrat appeared. A third time Peter went back, and this time he thumped twice and he thumped hard.

"There!" said he. "I guess that will wake him up. He must have been sound asleep." Then Peter

"Jerry is somewhere around," Peter with a grin.

once again hurried to the edg the bank and looked down. one shot out of that hole unde water, but it wasn't Jerry Mu

PARADISE FOR MOTHER.

(Chicago Herald Examiner)

No one ever suspected that the backseat driver would one day find appreciative co-operation in efforts to solve traffic problems. But the day has arrived—in London.

A long-distance motor bus concern has posted instructions in its newest coaches for passengers in back seats to ring push-button bells whenever they see a motor car approaching from the rear. The bell warns the driver, who cannot see rear traffic. (Apparently they scorn rear-sight mirrors over there.) The notice says:

"We have appointed back-seat passengers to watch traffic. Passengers will press the button when a car is overtaking the coach, causing an electric beell to ring near the driver, who will pull in on the near side."

Do you suppose it is merely a plan to entertain or employ the excess enthusiasm of motor traffic kibitzers?

HOOVER PRAISES WORK OF ROTARY

President Commends Society for Building Spirit of Good Will.

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)—After a leisurely round of acclimation, Rotary International today speeded up the business of the silver anniversary convention.

An address by M. Eugene Newsom, international president, and a message from President Hoover topped the first plenary program at the Chicago stadium.

Relating that distances no longer exist and that human relations must be founded on friendship, Newsom's address pointed out that Rotary's greatest usefulness was in choosing the means whereby friendship can best be interpreted.

President Hoover's greeting read: "The impressive attendance from so many countries is renewed evidence of the spirit of international good will which is so significant a development of our times and in the encouragement of which Rotary has played such a useful part."

Paul P. Harris, founder of Rotary, ignored an illness of several months to attend last night's pageant portraying the growth of Rotary, and his entrance into the stadium was the signal for a riotous demonstration from the thousands of Rotarians and their wives—the Rotary Anns.

After reciting that Rotary has an "ever increasing purpose in promoting friendship and good will amongst the nations of the world," Harris said:

"If we are to achieve that goal which for centuries had been the dream and hope of the people of the earth—the abolition of war as a means of settling international disputes—then the hearts of men must be so touched and molded that mutual understanding and good will will take the place of fear and hatred."

The new unit will be operated by Wright's company, which operated the elevator which burned.

Part of the addition will be made up of a dryer and overhead workhouse, the latter to have a storage capacity of 100,000 bushels. Storage tanks will take 600,000 bushels more.

"It Controls the Nerves"

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I could not stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now, and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your medicine to many girls with the same good results."—Ethel Fleetwood, 3023 Bandin Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

TEN STEPS.

The children stand on a line about 30 feet from the leader. When the leader faces them, they are to remain motionless as statues, but when his back is turned they may advance. By turning unexpectedly at irregular intervals the leader seeks to catch the children in motion. A child detected in motion must go back to the line and start over again. The child first crossing the line on which the leader stands is the winner. A variation is to have the children hide if possible before getting caught.

There are many game books available on a special table in the children's room at the public library.

BUS COMPANIES REDUCE SERVICE

Expensive Competition Between Two Lines Is Eliminated.

Cessation of expensive competition for passenger patronage was declared Tuesday by the Burlington Bus company and the Interstate Transit company, bus subsidiary of the Union Pacific railroad company, when the railway commission granted their joint applications for schedule and routing changes.

The result of this order will eliminate duplication of service upon the part of the two companies, which has resulted in considerable loss to both. In some instances the Interstate Transit company will leave the field clear for the Burlington in territory not served by the Union Pacific railroad, and vice versa.

The companies will operate cooperatively between Lincoln and Omaha, both using the same terminals in the two cities and operating on schedules which will not interfere with each other. In addition tickets purchased will be interchangeable, and train tickets purchased will be honored on the busses of either company.

Fewer Omaha Trips.

Heretofore, each company has been operating eight trips each way between Omaha and Lincoln, making a total of 16 trips each way, or almost half hour service. Under the new arrangement, the combined schedules will provide only eight trips each way daily.

A number of changes have been made in the time schedules of busses between various points to provide better connections between the two systems.

The general effect is that each company will retain its bus service as supplemental to its train service without bus competition from the company not also operating train service. Between those points where both companies operate train service, the bus service is co-ordinated.

The Interstate Transit company will discontinue its bus service between Nebraska City and Lincoln and that service will be taken up by the Burlington. The Burlington will discontinue operation between Hastings and Grand Island, leaving the business to the Interstate company.

The Interstate will discontinue its bus service between Hastings and Superior, and Hastings and Red Cloud in favor of the Burlington.

The Interstate will reduce the service from Hastings to Grand Island from four to three trips each way daily, with part of this service being supplied by the Omaha-Denver through bus. The new schedules will take effect July 1.

COUNTY CANCELS TAXES ON SCHOOL BOARD PROPERTY

Cancellation of taxes on two lots owned by the Lincoln school district for the years 1928 and 1929 was ordered by county commissioners Tuesday on application of R. O. Williams, school board attorney.

Court action had declared the taxes for the years 1925 to 1927 void. Mr. Williams, in a letter to the board, pointed out that the circumstances were the same for the two preceding years.

Fred Zwerink was appointed justice of the peace for South Pass precinct to serve until the next election. The board laid over an application of the Continental Construction Co. for permission to cross a county road with gas pipelines pending action by the company to take out insurance to indemnify the county from damages during the construction work. The county attorney had advised the commissioners to permit the construction subject to $10,000 insurance to protect the county.

John Public Still Sucker; Fighters Take Him for Ride

Fist Rookus In Philly Ends In Fiasco, With Godfrey Hitting Low

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—(I. N. S.)—Another fight, another foul; another crowd, another howl. Philadelphia awoke this morning with a dark brown conviction in its soul that last night had been one of those evenings that leave one vaguely aware that he had been born a sap and afterward went into a slump. To marshal the facts of the case briefly, succinctly and as painlessly as possible, Primo Carnera, the "beeg bologna," got the decision on a foul in the fifth round; George Godfrey got the official onus of having "deliberately struck a low punch," and Philadelphia got a $200,000 hangover — the usual morning after reaction of those who indulge in low grade entertainment.

Sounds Like Case In Court.

Six months ago, Phil Scott took a "plea" with Von Porat and was sustained; three months later, he filed another demurrer with Jack Sharkey and the petition was denied; two weeks ago, the heavyweight championship was bequeathed to Schmeling as he lay groveling upon the floor under the impact of Jack Sharkey's foul; last night—

It was a balmy summer's evening and a goodly crowd was there. They came, some 35,000 of them, to see the great prize fight, the so-called battle of the behemoths. They left, muttering darkly in a strange tongue, foreign even to the old Fifth ward down along the river front. They had seen the man who had been winning—at least in the writer's opinion—foul the man who had been losing, thus reenacting the Schmeling-Sharkey situation and bringing a second battle of bewilderment before the public.

Fans Let Loose Roar.

Heigho! another fight, another foul, another crowd, another howl. They still were howling when Carnera, having been stretched out in a neutral corner from a very low left to the body, arose from his chair of apparent agony after the customary interval and made his way unaided to the dressing rooms.

They still were howling on the downtown street corners at an early hour this morning about the thousands of dollars they had spent to witness this unsatisfactory but seemingly conventional climax.

The referee, Tommy Reilly, was orating to the effect that he meant to report the illegal punch as being deliberate and Chairman Wiener of the boxing commission, was exhorting all auditors with the tidings that the board would decide this morning whether all or any part of Godfrey's purse was to be taken away from him.

Carnera Makes Impression.

They can take lots of things away from Godfrey's purse and maybe something from Godfrey's prestige, but they will take nothing away from the impression that Carnera left with the crowd by his performance last night.

It was a bruising, bone-crushing fight and the mastodon proved himself to be a real heavyweight and a definite menace to any and all who may stand between him and the championship. He wasn't winning this fight when it ended, but he had lived down a savage beating in the first two rounds and was beginning to come on, a performance that savored of potential greatness.

Negro Fights Fiercely.

I never saw Godfrey fight as fiercely as he did in the first two heats. They said no man could stand up before him if he really wanted to let himself go. He let himself out as never before last night and Carnera still was doggedly carrying on, while the negro was beginning to puff and blow and wheeze. Old Gawge, weighing 250 pounds yesterday afternoon, has known better condition. Carnera, down to 262, his lowest weight in America, was never as good before. This applies both to condition and fighting ability.

He needed the former to survive Godfrey's body attack; it required the latter to carry him along with the Negro's early pace and bring him out in the clear for the third and fourth rounds.

Big Fellow Can Take It.

Carnera clipped full upon the jowl with Godfrey's best punches and whanged deep into the bosom with Godfrey's body attack, must have been a tough man or he wouldn't have lasted long enough to be fouled. His infighting, usually old Gawge's racket, was no good in the third round and old Gawge went back from there to blink perplexedly at this white mammoth who had been represented to him as a real chump.

Carnera showed a good left hand and he had plenty of savvy in many respects for a fighter who was supposed to be anybody's sap. I don't think any heavyweight can really hurt him. Anyhow, if he was not hurt in the first two rounds last night, he will never be hurt again.

Godfrey Sets Pace.

Godfrey went out with the first bell, winging with both hands to the body, and had Carnera on the run forthwith. The latter landed only one right hand and a few straight lefts early in the rounds. The rest of the way he was doing a Ray Schalk. He was catching a great ball game—on the chin, on the bosom and, truth to tell, on the run.

Gawge was hitting a few of them right down the foul line, prompting Carnera to take an occasional appeal, which, in my opinion, proved to be without justification. Anyhow, the colored boy was riding well out in front for the first minute and a half of the ensuing round. His body punching and occasional left hook up above, giving him enough leeway so that Carnera's rally in the closing minute just missed getting him a stand-off.

Mix It Up In Third.

The third round was about even, Godfrey starting with a blazing left hook, but taking a series of right crosses to the jaw. He came rushing back with punches down below, but Carnera straightened him out with two rights to the face and was timed beautifully by Godfrey's right uppercut at the bell.

The fourth was uneventful, but what there was of it belonged to Godfrey. This wasn't the official verdict, by the way. According to the tabs turned in, the fight was absolutely even when it ended.

Just before it did end, Chairman Wiener, according to his subsequent statement, visited Godfrey before the fifth round to warn him against low punches. If he did, the effect was negligible, if not altogether unsatisfactory. Godfrey's first real punch in the fifth round was a rather low left, his second a very low one.

Rides To Floor.

Carnera, having apparently debated the matter at length, finally decided he had been fouled and went into a whirling fall and lay prone. Dr. J. Webb Vaughn, the official physican, examined the hulk on the floor and declared him to be in no fit condition to continue. He said he had given the man the "flashlight test," whatever that is, and that he wasn't faking, to use the doctor's own words. And that was all and it was quite enough.

Heigho. Another fight, another foul; another crowd, another howl.

Purses Held Up By State Commission

PHILADELPHIA, June 24 — Frank Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania state athletic commission, announced today that the purse of both George Godfrey, who lost last night's bout on a foul, and Primo Carnera, the winner, would be held up pending a thorough investigation of the "fouling out" bout. The chairman has ordered the two fighters and their respective managers to appear for a conference in the commission's office scheduled for later today.

Previous to the bout, Wiener stated the commission would levy whatever punishment or fine it saw fit in the event of a foul or any other untoward incident in the bout.

Good Golf.

BY CHESTER HORTON, "Golf's Greatest Teacher."

When you initiate your back swing, by starting the club back and withdrawing your hands across your right toe as a general practice, you will at once note that your weight begins to pass to your right leg. Now you want your heel anchored solidly against the ground because all further back-swinging of the club is against this leg-resistance, since your body must not sway. This resistance runs clear down to the ground naturally, so its contact with the ground must be in the form of something solid. Your right heel should be the something solid. Feel that you have it planted against a stone wall. This anchorage, or resistance, makes your upper body twist, which is the pivot. If you maintain your anchorage your upper body will wind up like a spring so that at the top of the back swing you accumulate the maximum of spring-like winding up. All this, you will perceive, rests upon the contact you have of right heel and ground, and there must be no release of this. If you "break" your right knee, or dip your left shoulder downward, you at the same time release this anchorage, and that swing is blooey. You must "stand up" to this resistance.

SLUGGERS SWAT LIVELY PELLET

Big League Ball Clubs Roll Up Ponderous Total of Hits.

Modern day baseball, with its lively ball, home runs and two-figured scores, was exhibited to Mr. John Public in large quantities by the major league ball teams yesterday.

A total of 256 hits, in which were interspersed 20 home runs, rang off the bats of the players, scoring 159 runs to furnish an example of the great American sport as played in 1930.

The American leaguers outscored their National league rivals, 81 to 78, and outhit them, 256 to 119, but seven games were played in the junior circuit as compared to four in the Heydler circuit. The American league also led in home runs, 11 to nine, as Babe Ruth connected with his twenty-fourth of the season.

Cubs Front the Parade.

The Chicago Cubs led the parade in both leagues, defeating the Phillies, 21 to 8, as they found the Philadelphia pitchers for 24 hits, including Hack Wilson's twenty-second home run. Davis, Phillie catcher, drove the ball over the fence twice.

Not far behind the Cubs trailed the Brooklyn Robins, as they downed the Pirates, 19 to 6, in the greatest array of hitting in either circuit. The Robins hit safely 28 times and in doing so tied two league records. Their 10 consecutive hits in the sixth equaled the one-inning successive hit record, held by the Cubs and Cardinals, while the two added at the start of the seventh ran the consecutive string to 12 and tied the mark made by the Cardinals against the Phillies on Sept. 17, 1920.

Lopez Nipped at Plate.

The out that retired the Robins in the sixth was made by catching Lopez at the plate, thus allowing the unbroken string of hits to extend into the next inning.

Even the Boston Braves cut loose, winning a slugging match from the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 9. Wally Berger hit his twenty-first home run to retain runner-up honors in the circuit.

Bill Walker and the Giants managed to put on an old-fashioned ball game, the former holding the Reds to six hits and the latter winning, 3 to 0. Ray Kolp held New York to eight safeties.

Athletics Win Two.

As if to give Mr. Public variety, the Athletics and White Sox hooked up in a 2 to 1 game in the opener of a doubleheader in the American league and then closed with a 17 to 9 affair. The world champions were on the long end of the score in both games.

Mose Grove outpitched old Red Faber in the first encounter, but home runs came thick and fast in the nightcap. Five were divided between the Athletics, Al Simmons getting two and Foxx, Haas and Cochrane one each while Jolley connected twice for the Sox.

The Yankees lost ground as they blanked the Robins in the first game of a double bill, 15 to 0, and then dropped the second, 10 to 6. Henry Johnson pitched four-hit ball in the first, while Ruth got No. 24 in his home run campaign. The defeat dropped the Yanks to third place.

Senators Scalp Indians.

A double killing over the Indians by the Senators sent Washington into second place. The scores were 9 to 5 and 3 to 2. Alvin Crowder, Heinie Manush and Art Shires were the stars of the opener, while Fred Marberry outpitched Hudlin in the closing contest.

Behind Danny MacFayden's three-hit pitching, the Red Sox defeated the Tigers, 2 to 0. Sullivan pitched almost as well, holding the Sox to four hits. It was MacFayden's second three-hit performance in a week. Monday's major league results:

LINKS COP LAST GAME OF SERIES

Nunamakers Lead Buffs At Windup of Wild Game, 11-8.

Lincoln closed its home stand Monday night by winning a wild game from North Platte, 11 to 8. The victory gave the Links a three-one margin of the series with the Buffaloes.

The capital city tribe got two runs in the fourth and added six more tallies in the fifth, apparently sewing up the game when going into the eighth inning with a 9-1 lead. The Buffs broke out in a rash of hits in the eighth canto and six runs had crossed the plate before Pitcher Pickering had gone to the hsowers and Clair Sloan was inserted to stop the rampage.

Fairbury Wins Again.

While the Links were closing the series by downing North Platte, the leading Fairbury club made it 10 straight victories by downing Grand Island, 7-3. McCook kept the pace by outhitting York to win, 10-7, while Norfolk collected 17 hits off two Norton pitchers to beat the Kansas club, 8-4.

Lincoln was scheduled to play at McCook Tuesday afternoon. Fairbury moved to Norton, Norfolk to Grand Island and York to North Platte.

YANKS CARRY ON IN TENNIS FEST

Americans Victorious In Tuesday Matches At Wimbledon.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 24—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, America's unconquered tennis queen, made her initial appearance in the Wimbledon tennis championships of 1930 today, defeating Fraulein Krahwinkel of Germany in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. The match was a second round affair, both players having drawn first round byes.

Prior to Mrs. Moody's appearance, two other members of the American contingent had won their second round matches without great difficulty, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, defeating S. W. Harris, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4, and John Van Ryn of Princeton eliminating J. L. Chamberlain, Yorkshire champion, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Stubborn Resistance.

Fraulein Krahwinkel, playing a great all-round game, gave Mrs. Moody a stubborn fight, but her valiant efforts were fruitless against the merciless slashing of the American champion. The German girl's wonderful cross placements and stubborn returns caused Helen to bring out her heavy artillery.

Mrs. Moody lost the first and third games of the first set, and the German girl ran three of the others to deuce.

While the Moody-Krahwinkel affair was under way on the center court, J. Crawford, promising Australian star, advanced by defeating Mohan 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, in a hard fought match.

John Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., carried the Stars and Stripes further by eliminating De La Porta, a player whose eccentricities bothered the American during the first part of the match. Doeg quickly found his opponent's weaknesses, however, and took the match in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, mainstay of the British team, beat the French player Grandguillot, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1.

Other results were as follows: Lyttleton Rogers defeated E. C. Peters, 1-6, 6-0, 7-5, 6-4; Daniel Prenn, Germany, defeated G. H. Hughes, a young British player who had been expected to go far, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3; David defeated Sherwell, 6-0, 7-5, 0-6, 3-6, 6-0; Miki of Japan defeated W. A. R. Collins, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5.

In the women's singles, Miss Joan Ridley, England, defeated Mrs. Stocks, England, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5, and Mme. Mathieu, France, defeated Mrs. Brumwell, England, 6-2, 6-2.

Lott Beats Britisher.

George Lott played the best brand of tennis he has ever shown in any of his appearances in England, to defeat C. H. Kingsley in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Lott's game was featured by his deep driving and beautifully placed corner shots which had the Englishman virtually at his mercy. Lott's volleying was superb, the American youngster advancing to the net at every opportunity, while Kingsley wearily clung to his baseline position.

Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated O. G. N. Turnbull, veteran British player, 6-2, 7-5, 6-0. The British veteran put up a surprising fight in the second set, which he forced to deuce by some splendid service aces which left Mangin standing flat-footed. The American's magnificent volleying and fine placements however were too much for Turnbull in the long run.

Big Bill Tilden, playing with consummate ease, scored his second round victory at the expense of E. O. Mather, American student at Oxford. The scores were 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, eliminated R. Menzel, Czecho-Slovakia, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, giving the American his second straight tournament victory.

GODFREY'S FOUL CHEATS DEFEAT

Carnera Had Burly Negro On Run When Low Blow Ends Battle.

BY HYPE IGOE.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—And still none of us know how truly great or surely bad, is Primo Carnera.

He took the stiffest beating that old George Godfrey could hand out for two rounds here tonight.

Didn't wilt, didn't whine and was grinning right into Godfrey's teeth as the second round ended.

Primo was grinning and youthful-eyed as he came out for the third, which he promptly stole by sheer force of punching and willing attack.

He held Goerge off at evens in the fourth and then Godfrey fouled him, ending the fight after 1:13 of the fifth, just at a time when Carnera was coming like a bowling ball down Pike's peak and Godfrey was fading.

Carnera Clean Fighter.

There is no telling what might have happened, had the bout gone on.

Carnera was fighting, cleanly, intelligently. Also he was darned nice about everything, including three or four other low blows.

They backed into a corner of the ring, directly over my head in the press row. Godfrey, now grown weary and certainly careless about direction flicked a left uppercut below Carnera's belt. The big Italian looked a bit surprised, started to say something and then grinned.

The referee scolded Godfrey again As if he had not heard the reprimand at all, Godfrey stepped away and then in again, this time fairly looping a left into illegal territory.

Crumples To Floor.

Down went Carnera, agony written all over his huge form and he crumpled out flat on his stomach, his face flat to the dirty floor.

After a time, he rolled over on his back. The referee walked to the ropes and called in Dr. J. W. Vaugh the official doctor.

The physician threw a flashlight into Carnera's eyes and then examined him further.

"This man has been fouled," he told the referee.

Then came the official announcement—"deliberate foul."

Carnera stood up under the first two rounds of punishment with unflinching courage. His knees sagged frightfully under Godfrey's right-hand bombardment, but he didn't go down. He was pale. He was meeting a big-time demon, and it wasn't "in the bag." Mistah Godfrey's wallops spiked that little rumor right off the reel.

Godfrey Shoots His Bolt.

When Godfrey had shot his best and his bolt with it, Carnera began to come like a tidal wave. He began to pepper Godfrey with stiff lefts, and he outfought him in clinches. He all but closed Godfrey's right eye with a drilling left jab, and the celebrated menace began to look bedraggled, indeed.

Carnera had the crowd with him now. He was beginning to reverse the smacking he had taken in the first two rounds. The crowd cheered him, after all. The poor devil was proving that he isn't a false alarm. And then—

"Carnera wins on a deliberate foul!"

Illinois Proposes Longer Fist Bouts

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)—Illinois promoters will attempt to have the legislature amend the state boxing law next January to permit 15-round boxing matches when world's championships are at stake.

The present limit is 10, which, they explain, is suitable for non-title fights only.

General John V. Clinnin, chairman of the state athletic commission, said he favored 15-round fights.

BATHIE KEEN FOR PUTTER.

Bill Bathie, hard-driving professional of the Happy Hollow club Omaha, had Omaha golf fans talking today following the sensational performance at Dundee club in Omaha Monday.

Armed with only a putter, Bathie shot the Dundee course in 79, six over par. The pro's stunt was the result of some wagering on the part of his friends, who are said to have put up nearly $500 he could not break 85.

PAR ON 585-YARD HOLE.

Bathie used a straight-faced putter and surprised the gallery when he pounded out drives well over 250 yards, smacked fairway shots around the 200-mark and even got pitch shots to the green in orthodox fashion. His card shows a par five on the 585-yard sixteenth.

The Happy Hollow pro declared the only difference in playing most of the shots was he had to take a shorter grip than he ordinarily does. His card:

WILSON EQUALS RECORD.

H. R. "Monk" Wilson, city golf champion, equalled the amateur record for Eastridge course Monday when he shot the 18 holes in 70, equalling the mark held by Joe Brown and Joe Tucker. The pro record for the course is 65, turned in my Horton Smith and "Hoot" Gibson when the Nebraska open was played over the Eastridge course.

Wilson was playing with Hal Bowers and Jim Hunt when he turned in his Monday performance. The city champ was two over par for the outside nine, but developed a hot streak on the homeward journey. He had four birdies on the inside nine, getting a 33 for the par 37 trip. Wilson's card:

Plan By Promoters Bring Primo Here

Promoters Bernie and Pat Boyle of Omaha, handling the business details of Carnera-Bearcat Wright battle, dated for July 4 at Western league park in the Nebraska metropolis, declare they weren't spoofing in their Monday announcement that the Italian mastodon may do his training in Lincoln.

The two Omaha promoters made the drive to the state capital city Monday evening, gave the local situation the once-over and decided that, so far as they were concerned, Lincoln is a desirable spot for Carnera's training campaign.

Perhaps At Capitol Beach.

"Manager Leo See will have the final say," the Boyle brothers said while in town, "but if our recommendation is accepted, Carnera will pitch his camp in Lincoln, possibly at Capitol Beach. We can't work out the details until Carnera and his party arrive from Philadelphia. They are expected to reach Omaha Thursday and we plan to head them for Lincoln on the first train. Bearcat Wright is to do his training in Omaha, so we shall send Carnera to some other city."

While the Boyles were in Lincoln, they placed a block of July 3 fight tickets on sale at the Saratoga Parlors. Lincoln fist fans were grabbing them briskly Tuesday morning, which indicates that the capital city and towns in this corner of the state will be well represented at the Omaha knuckle party the night of July 3.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24

Fully 4c a bushel drop in wheat prices today accompanied news that the 1930 harvest has spread northward into Nebraska, and that conditions pointed to a big marketing movement there soon. All deliveries of wheat here established new low records on the fresh downward swing of values which went about 19c a bushel below prices at the finish on June 9. The outstanding feature was unusual lack of buying support for the market rather than any aggressive selling.

Wheat closed unsteady at the day's bottom level, 3⅞-4c a bushel below yesterday's finish. July 88¼-⅛; Sep., 91⅝-¾; Dec., 96⅞-97⅛.

Corn closed 1-1⅜c off, July 74⅞-75; Sept., 73⅝-¾; Dec., 68⅞-69c.

Oats—⅛-½c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Influenced by relative scant response which the Liverpool market paid to yesterday's advance here, Chicago wheat values underwent early setbacks today. Cheap offerings of United States wheat abroad were reported in Liverpool dispatches, and there were also advices of further timely rains benefiting crops in Canada. Starting ½ to 1c off, Chicago wheat afterward underwent additional declines. Corn, oats and provisions were also easier, with corn opening unchanged to ⅛c down, and subsequently showing setbacks all around.

A noon, whea was 2¾-3c net lower, and corn ⅞-1⅜c off.

Corn prices went lower, chiefly as a result of sympathy with wheat. July delivery of corn showed the most weakness. Selling, however, was only of a scattering character. Receipts of corn in Chicago totaled but 33 cars, compared with 78 a week ago and 141 at this time last year. Arrivals at other primary markets were also small.

Evidence of persistent dearth of export demand tended during much of the time to depress wheat values today. One reason given for trans-Atlantic importers backing away was that European requirements have been lessenced because of harvest operations having started in Europe's early producing countries. It was further stated that although fair amounts of North American wheat would continue to be needed for mixing purposes, heavy offerings from this side were acting as a weight on prices, and that actual arrivals of foreign wheat at the principal European continental ports in the last week have been 1,000,000 bushels more than for the week previous.

Downturns that exceeded 2 cents a bushel as compared with yesterday's finish, brought about little or no indication of rallying power at some stages today in the wheat market here. Meanwhile, scantiness of demand not only from exporters but also from millers was illustrated by reports that Canadian millers had reduced the price of bran to the lowest point ever known. There were also reports of uninterrupted favorable conditions for harvesting of domestic winter wheat and for growth progress throughout the spring crop belt.

Corn traders gave little attention to dry weather reports from parts of Illinois. High bids for cash grain sent out from St. Louis last night were also ignored, although the basis offered was considerably above Chicago. Oats weakened with corn and wheat.

Provisions advanced notwithstanding the downturns in the value of hogs and of grain as well.

NEW YIRK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 24

The stock market was left to the devices of the professional trading element today, which found stocks more easily depressed than rallied. The bear faction lacked conviction, however, and occasional flurries of short covering caused temporary upturns.

Wall street was more impressed with a sharp falling off in the volume of trading, than in the rather meaningless price movements. While yesterday's rally failed to carry over into today's trading, the renewed dullness of market was interpreted in brokerage circles as indicating that the liquidation movement under way for the past three weeks had largely spent itself.

While some commission houses looked for a substantial technical rally, there was a general feeling that the market would turn dull and stay dull for a while. A few pool operators are itching to get into action again, but with unimpressive earnings statements, slackening industrial activity, and more dividend reductions expected to feature business news during the next several weeks, prospects for resumption of a bull market during the near future are regarded as anything but bright.

Rather discouraging today was the condition statement of weekly reporting federal reserve member banks, showing an increase of $51,000,000 in loans on securities as contrasted to a drop of $211,000,000 in brokers loans during the same period. Loans against security collateral are now $1,233,000,000 above last year at this time. "All other" loans, including commercial and borrowings at the federal reserve, however, are off $648,000,000 and $630,000,000, respectively from last year at this time.

An encouraging development was a gain of $111,000,000 in "all other" loans, perhaps indicating increasing business activity in some lines but Wall street had been inclined to regard much of the stock market liquidation during the past three weeks as representing liquidation of old bank loans on security collateral, not cleaned up after the autumn crash, and hoped to find some indication of it. Some bankers believe many of the smaller banks have been in need of such house cleaning, of course this compilation does not include non-reserve small member banks, and is therefore not conclusive.

Rather heavy selling of the rails cropped out after midday, evidently reflecting bear pressure based on poor operating income reports now appearing for May. Southern railway sold at the lowest level in five years, Frisco, the lowest on four; Rock Island the lowest in three, and the Great Northern Preferred the lowest in two.

Losses of 2 to 5 points were numerous. Warner Bros. and Byers sagged in response to the shading of unofficial earnings estimates several stocks sold up 1 to 8 points in th emorning, American Tobacco B making the maximum gain, but these were mostly more than lost later. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American can, and General Electric sagged moderately. Anaconda was depressed by uneasiness over the dividend, to be announced Thursday.

Renewed heaviness of wheat favored the bear cause. The July position again dropped more than 2 cents, recording still a new low for the past 16years.

The market displayed pronounced weakness in the last hour, as the selling of rails spread to other sections of the list, and such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American can and Westinghouse Electric were driven down 3 to 5 points. An aggravating factor was a sharp break in wheat, July extending its loss to nearly four cents. The close was weak; total sales, however, approximated only 2,650,000 shares.

The stock market opened with mixed price trends today. Union Pacific jumped 5½ points, and Eastman Kodak, 2 points. Shares gaining 1 to 1½ included American Tobacco B, Allied Chemical, International Telephone, Chesapeake and Ohio and Goodyear. Electric Power and Light lost 1¼, American Telephone, 1, and Chrysler, Bethlehem, General Electric and Columbia Gas, ½ to ¼.

Yesterday's extensive covering movement failed to carry over into the new session, and after the opening orders were executed, the market turned heavy with pronounced pressure against pivotal industrials.

Estimates of another substantial reduction in steel mill operations this week, and the weekly condition statement of federal reserve member banks, showing a gain of $51,000,000 in loans on securities, against a drop in brokers loans for the same period of $211,000,000, encouraged buyers to try for lower levels. Trading, however, was comparatively dull.

U. S. Steel, after opening unchanged and selling a shade higher, soon showed a loss of a point. Other shares losing a point or more included North American, Warner Bros., Radio, Consolidated Gas, and Loews. American Can, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric and Western Union lost 2 to 3 points, and Case 5. Easing Tendencies appeared at the opening of the wheat and cotton markets.

During the initial transactions, Atchison, American Tobacco, and Columbian Carbon gained 2 to 3 points, and Underwood Elliott, National Biscuit, American Rolling Mill, Standard of California and others mounted a point or more.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with sterling cables at $4.85 29-32.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 24

Both buyers and sellers took things easy on the curb market today, and the result was the bullest trading in some time. Prices moved a point or two on both sides of the Monday finals, tending downward after a fairly steady opening, then recovering and subsequently moving with similar irregularity.

The frequency of the unimportant declines deterred much short covering, and traders seemed content to let the market idle. Most of the activity was in the utilities, where prices were generally stable.

Considerable strength developed in some of the industrials and specialties.

Oils showed more stability, but were dull, fluctuating generally within fractional ranges. Investment trusts were likewise quiet.

Pacific Finance corporation admitted to trading on this market, opened at 27½.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent but went to 2½ early in the afternoon.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 24

The indifference of the listed bond market to extremely favorable credit conditions was reflected in the immobility of prices today.

Trading was dull with lien issues steady and most stock privilege issues easier. A few prime rail issues appreciated but apathy was displayed towards the long term investment group as a whole, which except for a slight flurry after the New York federal reserve bank cut its rediscount rate, ostensibly to aid the bond market, has shown no desire to respond.

A factor in money rates which may divert funds into bonds was the reduction by New York clearing house banks of its rate on 30-day deposits from 2 to 1½ per cent. Financial circles believe it inevitable that considerable shifting of funds now idle or in the call loan market will result, with the lower bank rate prevailing and the prospect that the New York stock exchange may now establish the call loan rate at 2 per cent. With these low rates extant, short and long term investments are expected to prove more attractive in view of the profit to be reaped with money available at the lowest rates since the world war. The report of federal reserve system for the week ending June 18 showed no change in the bond holdings of member banks. Firmness was shown by Chesapeake & Ohio 4½'s, Erie 5's and Southern Pacific 4's, but most of the better grade rails were motionless with few sales in the early trading. North Central, an inactive bond, dropped 1½ points.

The quiet trading in convertibles and other bonds influenced by the share market, was coincidental with the dullness of stocks, turnover was far below normal and fluctuations narrow. Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron 6's were the most active, and gained more than a point in the early trading. Railroad and amusement convertibles were steady. Alleghany corporation 5's of '50 touched a new year's low with a 1-point loss.

The foreign group received little attention. German 7's, Italy 7's, and British 5½'s were firm, and South American governments irregular.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 24

CATTLE—With just a moderate supply both here and at other markets trade in killing cattle developed very slowly again today; the glutted eastern beef situation is still the dominating factor in the trade and buyers were out to reduce cost still further if possible, though what cattle were here sold during the morning were just about steady with Monday's low level.

CLOSE: Cattle receipts, 5,800; fed steers and yearlings mostly steady; spots stronger on better grades; quality improved; she stock slow, and about steady; bulls and vealers steady; stockers and feeders, scarce; fed steers and yearlings, $8.50@10.50, with a number of loads above this spread. Light yearlings, 1,040 lbs., $11.00; medium weights, $11.35; weighty steers, 1,524 lbs., $11.50; strictly choice 1,490 lb., average $11.75; heifers, $8.00@9.10; bulk beef cows, $5.50@7.50; choice lots, $7.75@8.00; bulk all cutters, $3.25@4.50; medium bulls, $4.50@5.75; practical top vealers, $9.50; odd head to independents, $10.00@10.50.

HOGS—The heavy receipts furnished enough bearishness to enable buyers to enforce further reductions of 15 to 25c below Monday; trade ruled a little more active today; top for the day, $8.65.

CLOSE: Hog receipts, 1,500; uneven, butchers, 15 to 25c lower; sows, 25c lower; top off more on choice lights; early top $8.65; bulk, 180-250 lb., weights, $8.50@8.60; weighty butchers downward to $8.25; packing sows mostly, $7.40@7.65; smooth light sows up to $7.75; average cost Monday, $8.49, weight 256.

SHEEP—Although the supply was light both here and at other markets, packers were buried and opening bids on fat lambs were 25c lower; trade ruled slow with salesmen resisting the decline; feeding lambs sold steady but the undertone for aged sheep was weak.

CLOSE: Sheep receipts, 6,000; lambs, mostly 10c lower; sheep steady; feeders strong to 15c higher; early sales, slaughter range lambs, $11.75; natives, $10.50; some held higher; ewes mostly, $2.00@2.50; range feeding lambs, up to $8.40.

CHICAGO, June 24

Hog prices slumped again despite a reduction in general receipts, carrying prices $1.00 a hundredweight under those current a week ago. Best lights and selected butchers at $9.10 to $9.15 sold to shippers fully 25 to 40c lower than the high time of Monday, or fully 10 to 15c lower than the average of that session. Receipts of 30,000 carried 6,000 direct to packers and 4,000 stale hogs were on the market.

Packing sows made up a large part of the run and these were sought by the major killers just above the $8.00 line. Best butchers and choice light hogs sold lowest since last November.

Little interest was manifested in the cattle trade early in the day. Modest receipts of 5,000 included no directs and ran largely to a plain grade of steers. Few finish beeves were on sale and for these holders asked firm prices. The bulk was salable under $11.00 and she stock, though not plentiful, met with a narrow inquiry. About 2,000 calves were on hand and buyers were not in keen need of vealers.

Packers received 2,500 lambs billed direct out of the estimated run of 7,000. Six cars of choice Idaho lambs were on sale in the open market and attracted buyers. Better prices were sought, but early trading revealed no distinctly stronger strain.

HOGS—Receipts, 30,000, including 8,000 direct: 10 to 15c lower; later trade 15 to 25c lower: fairly active to all interests at the decline: top $9.15 paid for 170-210 lbs.; butchers, medium to choice 250-300 lbs., $8.50@9.10; 200-250 lbs., $8.85@9.15; 160-200 lbs., $8.85@9.15; 130-160 lbs., $8.50@9.15; packing sows, $7.50@8.25; pigs, medium to choice 90-130 lbs., $7.75@8.75.

CATTLE—Receipts, 5,000; calves, 2,500; runs small; market a trifle better; strong to 25c higher on instances on fed steers and yearlings; top $12.10; fat cows still sluggish and slow, mostly $5.00@6.50; only strictly grain feds above $7.50; slaughter classes, steers good and choice, 1,300-1,500 lbs., $10.00@12.50; 1,100-1,300 lbs., $9.75@12.25; 950-1,100 lbs., $9.75@12.00; common and medium 850 lbs. up, $7.00@10.00; fed yearlings, $5.00@6.50; only strictly grain feds above $7.50; slaughter classes, steers' god and choice 1,300-1,500 lbs., $10.00@12.50; 1,100-1,300 lbs., $9.75@12.25; 950-1,100 lbs., $9.75@12.00; common and medium 850 lbs. up, $7.00@10.00; fed yearlings, good and choice 750-950 lbs., $9.75@11.75; heifers, good and choice 850 lbs. down, $9.00@10.50; common and medium, $6.00@9.25; cows, good and choice, $6.75@9.00; common and medium, $4.50@6.75; low cutter and cutter, $3.25@4.50; bulls, good and choice (beef), $6.40@8.25; cutter to medium, $4.50@6.40; vealers (milk fed) good and choice $9.50@11.00; medium, $8.50@9.50; cull and common, $6.00@8.50; stocker and feeder steers, good and choice, all weights, $9.00@10.50; common and medium, $6.50@9.25.

New York Cotton.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 24

Yesterday's declines were followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in the cotton market today. July was generally low under further pre-notice day liquidation. New crop positions met increased offerings on moderate bulges owing to weakness in grain and the rather unsettled ruling of the stock market.

July sold off about 19 points, declining to 13.21 while new crop positions after showing net losses of some 5 to 10 points, recovered part of their losses with the general market ruling about 3 to 12 points net lower around 2 o'clock.

Cotton opened easy today at 4 points higher to 3 points lower and early in the day was only moderately active with a downward tendency.

Irregularity in the early movement of stock values and a decline in wheat as well as reports of lower bar silver in London all seemed to have a rather depressing influence. The July position sold down to 13.27, a loss of 13 points from the previous close, and new October declined to 12.77, a loss of 8 points.

The market was quiet later after showing net losses of about 5 to 10 points on the active new crop positions, ruled a shade steadier on covering. July liquidation seemed to find little demand and the price worked off to 13.25 or 14 points net lower.

The market at midday was fairly steady with the new crop positions ruling about net unchanged to 4 points lower while July was still at the lowest levels of the morning.

STOCKS TAKE ANOTHER SKID

Several Issues Break Through Last November's Bottom Levels.

NEW YORK, June 24 — (AP)— Share prices were again sent skidding during the latter part of today's session on the stock markct. A long list of important rails and industrials dropped $3 to $6, while losses in a few of the erratic issues ran to a maximum of $20 a share. Most of yesterday's gains were cancelled, and a long list of issues dropped to new lows for 1930, while several broke through last November's bottom levels.

Trading was dull until the final half hour, when stocks of all descriptions were sold in considerable volume. During the morning, a brief flurry of short covering carried important stocks up $1 to $8 a share, but these gains were soon lost. A bear drive against the rails, together with a sharp drop in Chicago wheat, carrying the July position down nearly 4 cents to another new low since 1914, were unsettling factors.

U. S. Steel common closed at $152.50, off $4 and duplicating its 1930 minimum. American Can closed at $110.25, off 5.75. New York Central closed at $152.50, off $6.37, and the lowest price since 1927. American Telephone lost $5.25, closing at $203.50, Baltimore & Ohio closed at $98.37, off $4.87 and the lowest price since 1926.

Total sales for the day were only 2,865,000 shares, but of this amount, nearly 1,000,000 were traded in the last fifty-eight minutes.

MEDICS ATTACK VETERANS BILL

Doctors Support Hoover In Opposition to Liberalized Pensions.

DETROIT, June 24— (AP) —The American Medical association today came to the support of President Hoover in his opposition to the liberalized World war veterans pension bill.

In a resolution passed in the house of delegates, the bill was criticized as "without basis in the science and art of medicine."

The resolution attacked the provisions of the bill enlaraging hospital facilities at the command of the veterans bureau as "unsound and socialistic in character." The duty of providing medical care for veterans disabled by diseases or injuries not of service origin is the duty of the states rather than the federal government, the resultion said.

The cash allowance scheme for hospitalized veterans also was criticised as "calculated to bring into the hospitals at the command of the veterans bureau patients who could be better and more economically treated as ambulance patients."

EARNINGS

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—The union Pacific system reported net operation income for May of $1,411,329, against $2,439,134 for May last year.

The Northern Pacific railroad reported May net operating income of $560,189, compared with $1,411,064 for May last year.

WHEAT SINKS STILL LOWER

July Delivery Drops to 88 1-4, Almost to June, 1914, High Price.

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)—Wheat harvest and collapse of prices gathered momentum today and once again new low records were set in the futures market here. July wheat dropped to 88¼ cents a bushel, only a quarter-cent above the June, 1914, high price, and the close today was at the bottom of the session, showing losses of 3⅞ to 4 cents a bushel from Monday's finish.

Wheat futures closed as follows: July 88¼ to ⅛ cents; September 91⅝ to ¾; December 96⅞ to 97⅛.

Rye, too, established new minimum records for the year and corn and oats were only a fraction above their lowest levels.

It was the fourth successive day that wheat had fallen to a new low point, breaking every record for sixteen years. European buyers still held aloof, and although selling did not seem heavy there was little interest on the part of buyers. Rains in Canada and the fast northward movement of the winter wheat harvest, now sweeping across Nebraska, helped undermine values.

Press Search For Boy Lost On Mountain

California Scout, Missing Since Friday, is Believed Dead.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 24—(AP)—Although hope of finding him alive has been virtually abandoned search continued today on the snowy, rugged slopes of Mount San Jacinto for Harold Johnson, 12-year-old Boy Scout, lost since Friday.

Veteran mountianeers, forest rangers, army aviators, citizens and fellow scouts from whom he was separated while hiking to San Jacinto's peak have participated in a futile effort to rescue the frail lad, exposed to the mountain's jagged precipices and freezing temperatures.

R. J. Johnson, Corona, Cal. postmaster and his wife, parents of Harold, are awaiting the outcome of the search at Idyllwild the point from which the missing boy's troop hiked to the mountain's crest Friday.

A party of seventy-five made its way along the sheer eastern slope of the mountain today carrying provisions on a pack train of twenty mules. Fliers from Marsh field army training school planned to wing their way over San Jacinto's summit again today and continue aerial search by means of field glasses.

WATERWAY BILL TO CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—The house today declined to concur in the senate amendments to the $138,141,902 rivers and harbors omnibus bill and sent it to conference to compose differences between the two branches.

Chairman Dempsey of the rivers and harbors committee asked for the conference. He predicted the differences, involving projects costing $27,606,875, would be agreed upon and that the bill would be enacted this week.

Speaker Longworth named Dempsey of New York, Strong of Pennsylvania, republicans, and Mansfield, democrat of Texas, as the house conferees.

High Wind Big Bother in Opening Day's Play at Broadmoor.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 24—(AP)—The 225 aspirants for the 1930 trans-Mississippi golf championship today began the final 18 holes of the qualifying round to determine the 32 entrants in the championship flight. Based on yesterday's start, scores of 160 and under should qualify.

Five cards of 74 were the best that could be combed from yesterday's performances on the par 70 course. Forty-two scores were under 80. Several first class golfers had to uncover many a fine shot to keep in the 70s as a stiff south wind blew continuously over the course.

Bock Shoots 74.

Fred Dold of Wichita, Kas., state champion; Karl W. Bock, Omaha; Emerson Carey, jr., Hutchinson, Kas., a former Cornell football captain; Ben Goodwin of St. Louis and Dr. L. B. Bromfield, of Denver, ex-Colorado champion, all came through with 74s.

Bob McCrary of Des Moines, defending champion, started the second round with a 76, six over par. Jimmy Manion of St. Louis, former trans-Mississippi titleholder, had a 77, and Bud Maytag of Des Moines, last year's runner-up, had 76.

Omaha Youngsters Low.

Yesterday's extreme low scorers needed 72s today to match the medal of last year, made by Nathan Grimes of Denver. Grimes' best yesterday was 78. Two 17-year-old Omaha youngsters, Perry Garver and Rodney Bliss, jr., were being watched closely after their twin cards of 76 in the first round.

YALE PERSISTS STAGG BACKS UP

Report Has It Chicago Director Abandons Tournaments.

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)—Reports persisted today, without denial or affirmation, that the University of Chicago's board of athletic control has ordered Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg to discontinue his national prep basketball and track tournaments.

The reports were started by an alumnus, who said Coach Stagg had yielded and would hold no more of the athletic events, which have been fought by the National Federation of High School Athletic Directors.

Opposition to the tournaments, led by C. W. Whitten of Chicago, was based on the complaint they took high school athletes away from their classes for too long a period and made athletic recruiting of prep stars easier. Coach Stagg denied the recruiting charge and contended that a week at the tournaments, held annually, offered more education than a like period in the classroom.

University of Chicago officials refused to comment on the reports but said a final announcement would be made soon.

Simpson and Tolan To Race Williams

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 24—(AP)—George Simpson, Ohio State's great sprinter, was here today to start preparations for his race against Percy Williams, Olympic champion, and Eddie Tolan, Michigan's world record holder, July 1. The special 100-yard event will feature a Dominion Day athletic meet at the Vancouver exhibition grounds.

Dazzy Vance sees his club, the Dodgers, as a pennant contender for the first time since he began working for Brooklyn.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Individual Thoughts.

Following the lines of mediocrity does not win distinction or success.

To get results different from other people, one must think and act differently. Business men and women are very much inclined to fall into the rut of imitation and precedent. They do things like all their competitors and co-workers do them, and as they have been done for the years that preceded, yet they expect to get different results.

It is well to remember that you are an individual, that your thoughts, ambitions, emotions and experiences have been different from those of anyone else in the world, that there never was another and never will be that is just exactly like you. You and your growth are unique.

Dare to be yourself and to be original.

Old Fashioned Fun.

Dear Minerva: I read your Mail every day and like it fine.

A few days ago I read a letter from a fellow (I don't remember his name) but he said he didn't believe there were any girls left but what he could kiss after going with them a month.

That's not the truth.

There's a lot of girls around here he couldn't go so fast with.

"Our Gang," we call it consists of ten boys and ten girls and none pet, smoke or drink.

We are not dead either; we have a lot of fun.

We meet every Sunday morning and evening at church, have very enjoyable times there. We joke and cut up after services.

Our Y. P. C. E. meets once a month for a sociable evening. We generally have a high time, and of course we have parties off and on, all the time. We play in the house in the winter and in the summer we play outside, very active games because we are all live wires along aht line.

Oh yes we play party games but don't take any serious.

We never go off and sit in the cars by ourselves It's lots more fun to stay in a bunch. We have picnics out in the woods, sometimes the whole bunch old and young and sometimes just us kids. Always we have a lot of fun.

We are not old fashioned. We wore short skirts when they were in style and now we have the long ones.

Our parents are known as well-to-do western farmers. —HAPPY GO LUCKY.

The Small Things.

Dear Minerva: I went with a boy for a year and when we broke up it was on my account. He still comes over once in a while and I hear he still likes me. I asked him to an affair which he accepted with pleasure. We had a lovely time, but toward the end of the evening he paid attention to a certain girl I know. By this I mean he was attracted by her although he was still attentive to me. We traded dances with this girl and her escort. The trading was done by the girls as the boys didn't know each other. As I finished the dance with this girl's escort and as we walked up to her and the boy I took I heard him say to her, "Don't say anything." She nodded. That sort of spoiled my evening as I am sure he asked for a date. Coming home he asked me if he had hurt my feelings in any way or offended me as I was so quiet and grave. I said no.

I don't know what to do or how to feel about it. I like him more than anyone else. But I'm sensitive, I notice every glance anyone gives anyone else and anything like that hurts me so much. I know it shouldn't but it does. Should I ever mention the little incident to anyone? Could you please answer as soon as possible as it sort of worries me?—J.

A: Don't mention the trifling incident and don't give it any thought Magnifying small things can lead you into a great deal of trouble. The supersensitive person is always in a turmoil. Every little side glance; the whispered word; the word that isn't spoken, all are magnified into some meaning which is not present. You are in that state of mind, and cannot think or see clearly while the spell is upon you. If you continue in this unhappy, sensitive state while with this boy, you are far better off without him.

Movie Man Has Ex-Wife Shadowed

Ernest Westmore, film make-up man and his wife, Ethlyn Clair, actress, listening to the report of Mary Gindra (left), whom Westmore hired to live near his former wife's home and learn things. Westmore is suing for custody of his child by the former marriage.

Oh These Women

By Leola Allard.

A teacher writes to say that you can't train children by love alone. That a good spanking is what many of them need.

I think you can train them without spankings, if you begin at the cradle and keep it up until they are pretty well on their way.

Teacher says she has learned to discipline children, and that it is as necessary to their growth as cultivation is to plants. Love, she says is sufficient for some children, but for others nothing accomplishes as much good as a whipping.

In citing the parents who have few children and lavish much love upon them, "asking nothing in return for their love," she says, "the children grow up selfish, selfwilled, lawless, dishonest, disrespectful, disobedient. If not with all these faults, at least some of them."

If she feels that way about children I wouldn't want her to be training my child. In the first place people don't ask anything in return for love. In the next place how many children are bad enough to be all these things she has listed?

Then she says that "When the children grow up these faults become more pronounced, making them uncompanionable, unreasonable and unmanageable as wives or husbands." She thinks it's not surprising that later the divorce courts are filled with these spoiled children, and that more work and discipline for the children would empty some of the jails and the old people wouldn't be crowded off the sidewalks. "The country," says she, "wouldn't be filled then with gangsters. We should love children wisely and demand that they fill their places in a way to make the nation proud, as assets not burdens."

I think the teacher is wrong in starting out with the idea that the word is full of wrong children fast developing into gangsters. Then too much demanding doesn't get children any farther than spankings. Children are people and have feelings, and they can be reasoned with and shown the light without being beaten into submission. Any spanking, no matter whether it hurts physically, has a deleterious effect upon little folks. Children remember every spanking they ever get, and not with any special love or thanks to their parents.

I know some modern kindergarten teachers in our country's biggest colleges, who have experimented extensively and found that you can make more good children with kindness than you can with whippings. One of the things that amuses me is the way they punish them by telling them they must stay home for a few days and not come to kindergarten. They'd even eat spinach to get back.

It's too bad that suitable teachers can't get the children earlier than some of the mothers who spoil them. Not all mothers are good mothers, and the teachers' problems are indeed difficult ones. But for the most part they are now sparing the rod to the everlasting advantage of the child.

T. W. LE QUATTE TO SPEAK HERE

Advertising Specialist To Address Business Men July 3.

T. W. Le Quatte, executive vice president of the Advertising Federation of America, will address business men of Lincoln at the chamber of commerce at noon, Thursday, July 3, according to an announcement made Monday by Richard V. Koupal of the Nebraska Merchant, and president of the Advertising club of Lincoln.

Mr. Le Quatte, ambassador plenipotentiary of organized advertising, will take the local advertisers for a verbal trip through the plant of the Advertising Federation of America, the greatest force for organized advertising in the world, which unites 125 American advertising clubs and 25 national groups representing special interests in advertising. The federation's membership totals more than 20,000 advertising men and women. Mr. Le Quatte will tell the local business men of the achievements of organized advertising for the past year.

Mr. Le Quatte, for many years an active builder of advertising clubs, having been responsible for the prosperity of the famous Advertising club of Des Moines, Iowa, and the early advance of the federation, became even more active during the term of Charles C. Younggreen, of Milwaukee, as president of the federation.

Realizing that the adequate fulfillment of the federation's obligations to the federated clubs called for a greater burden of service than could properly be asked from the chairman of the board or the president, Mr. Younggreen and the board of directors created the office of executive vice president and urged Mr. Le Quatte to take on this work.

So successful has Mr. Le Quatte been in this work, that Gilbert T. Hodges, newly-elected president of the federation, is planning to include in his program an expansion of Mr. Le Quatte's endeavors.

Legion Deficit On Airport Dedication Estimated at $150

Although an accurate report will not be available for several days, the American Legion, Lincoln post No. 3, lost approximately $150 on the municipal airport dedication here Saturday and Sunday, it was announced by Rolla C. Van Kirk, general chairman, at a meeting of the legion Monday night. Expenditures totaled about $2,000 and receipts totalled about $1,850, he said.

Harry F. Atwood of Chicago, seven years president of the Constitutional Educational association and nationally known authority on the American constitution, in an address to the members attacked the direct primaries and the initiative referendum as the cause of the present business situation. He also criticized the modern tendency of class consciousness. When Abraham Lincoln was splitting rails, he did not consider going to congress to pass legislation in the interests of rail splitters, Mr. Atwood said.

Legion members decided to engage a part time secretary. The committee selected recently to investigate prospective club rooms for the post was instructed to continue its work.

CHINESE PIRATES SHOOT PASSENGERS

HONGKONG, June 24—(AP)—Fifty buccaneers wearing soldiers' uniforms overhauled a Chinese steamer today near Kongmoon, fifty miles south of Canton, shot several passengers, kidnaped 180 Chinese for ransom and took loot valued at $20,000.

The passengers were shot when about twenty of them jumped overboard and started swimming toward the shore. The pirates shot most of them, only a few escaping.

Cuticura Healed Red Eruptions on Four Months Old Baby.

"My little girl started to have small, sore eruptions on her cheeks when she was four months old. They kept getting worse and worse, and later the eruptions scaled over and were red and feverish. The trouble lasted about a month.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It seemed to help her right away so I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs Christ Ellingson, R 3, Box 34, Hawley, Minn., June 27, 1929.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

More Power and Pick-up

Of course it is an "age of machinery"—but man-power is still the most important factor in human achievement. Shredded Wheat is a power food. It is rich in the elements that build muscular and mental energy—making it an ideal food for children. Shredded Wheat is nothing but whole wheat, supplying every element that growing bodies need. Delicious with milk and fresh fruits.

For New Effects in Tinting Lingerie

favored by famous Paris couturiers

HOME tinting is now done in a new way. Lingerie looks fresher, newer than ever before.

An exclusive German formula makes all fabrics "take" the color quickly and evenly—no streaking or spotting. Mere "surface tinting" cannot equal its results.

By this method, known as New INSTANT RIT, colors are made clearer—and even daintiest pastel tints last through extra washings.

INSTANT RIT dissolves completely in 40 seconds.

25 lovely colors for:

Lingerie	Curtains
Hosiery	Children's clothes
Dresses	Scarfs, gloves, etc.

At your druggist or department store. 15c for the large size.

WHITE RIT—Color Remover (Harmless as Boiling Water)

Any color, even black, completely removed from all materials by WHITE RIT (color remover). Also takes spots and stains from white goods—even ink, fruit, perspiration, rust, etc. Restores "yellowed" or "grayed" white goods to original whiteness.

INSTANT RIT

Tints or Dyes All Fabrics, Any Shade

Note: ALL RIT is INSTANT RIT whether so marked on package or not.
